Mail Is Again on The Move

Trains Cut Out Of Service Are Again Rolling As Men Report

By the Associated Press
One of the longest and most costly rail strikes in history was all but over today, and all mail service was restored.

The postoffice department directed all postoffices to resume normal mail service, ending various restrictions that were put into effect while train operations were disrupted.

The army's threat to fire striking switchmen was regarded as the main factor in breaking up the 10-day "sick" walkout.

The work stoppage continued in a few spots across the country. But generally there was a full-scale return to work—notably in Chicago, the country's No. 1 rail center.

Indications were that all strikers will be back on the job before the 4 p. m. (EST) Saturday deadline set by the army in its "work or be fired" ultimatum.

Thousands didn't wait for the deadline to return to work. The switchmen—who also were promised a pay raise—flocked back to their jobs in large numbers, joining the thousands who had returned to work earlier this week.

The army's demand to switchmen to get back on the job or lose their job and seniority came after President Truman's instructions to the army to take appropriate means to get the roads in full operation.

The army has been in technical control of the carriers since the government seized them last Aug. 27 to halt a threatened strike.

Return Is Swift
The reaction in Chicago, one of the major hold-out areas, was swift. Nearly 100 per cent of the striking switchmen reported for work last night, compared to about 20 per cent on the early morning shift Thursday.

The early morning shift today on 25 railroads in Chicago, also had nearly 100 per cent working crews, the army's railroad control board said. Of 1,558 men normally on the job, 1,507 reported for work. An army spokesman said the 51 off duty was "about normal."

There was similar reports from many other cities where the work stoppage had continued during the week. Only a few scattered points reported switchmen planned to remain away from work today.

The switchmen returned to work faced with the gigantic task of helping to unscramble the jammed freight yards. An estimated 700,000 of the nation's 2,000,000 freight cars had been tied up during the walkout, which started in Chicago and Detroit on Jan. 30.

In Chicago, the end of the walkout (Please turn to page 6, Column 6)

King Farouk to Wed Miss Sadek

ROME, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Official announcement of the long-rumored engagement of King Farouk of Egypt and pretty 17-year-old Narmir Sadek is expected in Cairo tomorrow or Sunday, the monarch's birthday, according to reports in Rome.

The reports said Miss Sadek occupied the box opposite the king at a recent opera performance in the Egyptian capital, spurring speculation on the romance.

The royal palace in Cairo has long maintained silence on the king's intentions but when he toured France last summer, Karim Thabet Pasha, his first court counselor, said the portly ruler expected to marry Miss Sadek early in 1951.

BLUFFTON, Ind., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Ralph Hunnicutt, 45-year-old farmer, came into Henry Koenig's blacksmith shop yesterday to buy a sheet of steel. Koenig, 58, reached for one from a stack of sheets.

The stack toppled and both men were crushed to death under four tons of steel.

The announcement was made today by State Senator John A. Johnson of Ellington, the club's president.

Special Shoes For The President

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Cobbler Nick Alianello made a pair of shoes for a special customer two years ago, and the customer wrote thanking him for "a perfect fit."

Pleased, Nick started on a second special order for the same customer. He finished the job Thursday. The shoes, hand finished to specifications, are of English black calf with black rubber heels and a special padding feature to give them a soft cushion-like quality.

They'll be mailed to Washington in a day or two to the pleased customer, Harry S. Truman.

Awards Given To Over 100 Boy Scouts

Troop 57 Again Is Winner of Court Of Honor Plaque

Over 100 awards were made last night to Boy Scouts of the Pettis County District at the District Court of Honor held on the eve of the 41st birthday of Boy Scouting in America. The Circuit Court Room at the Pettis County Court House was filled to capacity by 730 p. m. with Scouts, relatives, and friends. Special guest at this meeting was Reinhold Miller of Jefferson City, Scout Executive of the Lake of the Ozarks Council.

The ceremony started with the Pledge of Allegiance to the U. S. flag led by Lyle Brown with the audience participating, Cline Cain, veteran scoutmaster, presided.

As has been customary in the past, a count of scouts, relatives, and friends was made of those representing the respective troops. At each Court of Honor an Attendance Plaque is awarded the troop having the greatest representation at the meeting. The winning troop is then entitled to keep this plaque at their meeting place until the next Court of Honor when the procedure is repeated. Troop 57 won the plaque at this Court of Honor held last fall, and at the beginning of this meeting surrendered the coveted award to the chairman until a new count was made.

Plaque to Troop 57
After the count was made it was found that Troop 57, again won the Attendance Plaque. In a brief ceremony Lloyd Satterwhite, scoutmaster, accepted the plaque for Troop 57 from John F. Zander, advancement chairman.

Awards of Second Class Scout were then made to Larry Owen, Troop 52, and Francis Lee Rice, Troop 64. This was followed by (Please turn to page 6, Column 4)

States Economy Being Sapped

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 9.—(AP)—U. S. Senator William E. Jenner (R-Ind) told the Indiana legislature today "the economic blood and income of every citizen is being sucked out of the communities where it is earned and sent to Washington."

Jenner called for "home rule wherever it is practical," and said:

"Actually only eight cents out of each dollar which hoosiers sent down to Washington this past year will find its way back to Indiana."

The senator addressed a joint session of the Senate and the House in a pre-Lincoln day appearance.

Traffic Accidents Take 885 Toll

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Traffic accidents caused 885 deaths in Missouri last year, the state highway patrol announced today.

The total was 20 higher than an earlier figure based on incomplete tabulations.

Col. David E. Harrison, superintendent of the patrol, said the 1950 total showed an increase of 11 per cent over the 799 deaths in 1949. But Harrison said Missouri is still far below the national average for number of deaths per million miles traveled.

The biggest jump in deaths took place in cities with more than 10,000 population, with an increase of 25 per cent over 1949.

At Least Found How Button Works

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Forty-year-old Bradley Laycock, a Boy Scout chosen to serve for a day as county treasurer during Scout week, did something the treasurer never did.

Laycock pushed a button. Sirens screamed and two squads of police rushed in with drawn guns yesterday.

The treasurer, Louis Rainier, calmed the cops and said: "Well, at least we know now how that darn thing works."

Woman Frozen Is Given Chance

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—(AP)—A young woman, found frozen stiff with a body temperature about 34 degrees below normal, today was given a chance to survive—but doctors said she may lose both arms and legs.

Physicians at Michael Reese hospital said medical history probably does not show a case where a person with such a low body temperature—64 degrees—lived to tell about it.

Mrs. Dorothy Mae Stevens, 23, a Negro, was found yesterday morning lying beside a south side apartment building in subzero cold. She was immediately taken to the hospital.

The hospital said it probably will be four or five days before it can be determined whether she will live, or whether her frozen limbs must be cut off.

Today, 26 hours after she was found, the woman's temperature had climbed to 100. The normal is 98.6.

Her pulse was 100, within the normal range. When first brought to the hospital, it was 12 beats a minute.

Then she was breathing three to five times a minute. This morning her respiration had increased to 28, also within the normal range. Her blood pressure also was about normal.

Scores of physicians visited the patient to observe her reactions.

Step to Keep Meat From Black Market

Order is Issued In Strict Control On Slaughtering

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(AP)—The government slapped strict controls on livestock slaughtering today in an effort to forestall black market in meat.

The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) issued an order bringing all livestock slaughter under a system of "slaughter quotas."

OPS Director Michael V. Di Salle said:

"We are determined to keep meat out of the black market, and to see that steaks, pork chops and roasts continue to be available in all sections of the country at a fair price. We believe this slaughtering control order is a big step in that direction."

The order will have the effect of limiting slaughterers to the same proportionate share of animals they killed in 1950.

New slaughterers are banned from starting operations, unless they can show they are badly needed by the public.

The Regulations
The regulation provides:

From now until April 1, no slaughterer may slaughter cattle, calves, sheep and lambs, or swine unless he was engaged in the business of slaughtering that species of livestock in the period from Jan. 1, 1950, up to now.

By March 15, all slaughterers except farm slaughterers must register with the OPS. No slaughterer except farm slaughterers may legally slaughter any livestock after April 1 unless he has registered.

Beginning April 1, the volume of slaughter by each registered slaughterer will be regulated by quotas established on the basis of 1950 experience.

The slaughterers will be registered "only upon a definite showing that the proposed new establishment is essential to meet civilian needs which can not be met from any other source, and that operation of the new establishment will promote the national defense by facilitating the production and orderly distribution of meat."

On another food front, DiSalle and Economic Stabilization chief Eric Johnson were quoted as saying they will not recommend any change in the present parity protection for farmers until after further study.

That word came from Chairman Maybank (D-SC) after a Senate House watchdog committee on (Please turn to page 6, Column 5)

Mail And Trains On Schedule

Mail service has been declared normal as to noon today according to a message received by Acting Postmaster Atwill Bohling. A message was received at the post office today from W. L. Noah, U. S. Mail Inspector, at St. Louis that all restrictions had been removed.

The Missouri Pacific railroad which temporarily discontinued passenger trains No. 14, east bound, announced the resumption of those schedules as of Thursday evening.

Passenger train No. 15 is due to depart from Sedalia at 5:28 in the evening and No. 14 is scheduled to leave at 5:55 o'clock in the evening.

Four Million Loss in Fire at Lansing, Mich.

State Building In Capital City Burned All Night

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 9.—(AP)—A 24-hour fire that swept Michigan's state office building, causing an estimated $4,000,000 damage, "appears" to have been brought under control, State Fire Marshal Arnold Renner said today.

The stubborn blaze, Renner said, now appears to be confined to the southeast corner of the "M" floor, six and a half stories up, where it first broke out.

"We'll let it burn itself out," he declared.

Renner also said that two crews of 10 firemen, who had been fighting the blaze at close quarters in dense, acrid smoke, had been pulled back for rest.

"We're not going to kill men up there," he said. The men had worn gas masks. At least three of them were overcome.

The blaze, which brought temporary paralysis to parts of Michigan's government, began at 12:45 p. m. (EST) Thursday. It spread, at first smoldering and then raging, through the night.

By the time it was termed under control, it had flared more than a full day.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who toured the blaze area, said a large part of the state government was "temporarily paralyzed" by the fire's vast damage.

Four firemen and a policeman were overcome by smoke and fumes.

The eight-story office building, constructed 28 years ago and housing many state agencies, is about a block from the capitol.

Firemen said they anticipated a battle at least until mid-morning before they could get into the two top floors and the seat of the blaze.

No cause for the fire was known. Gov. Williams ordered an immediate investigation.

The building, built at a cost of $3,000,000 in 1923, suffered "at least" $4,000,000 damages, including equipment, according to State Fire Marshal Arnold Renner.

Mass of Ice and Water
Nerve center of half of the state government, the building was left a roofless mass of ice, leaking water at every crevice.

Gov. Williams who had plowed through the burning building in an old navy fatigue uniform, ordered an emergency setup to keep the government going as well as it could. Thirteen hundred employees were told to stay home, however.

Even the state's telephone system, embracing the capitol and outlying offices, was out of commission. The switchboard was located in the damage area.

Dense, acrid fumes of burning chemicals came from the highway department blue printing and micurolfing division where the fire apparently started.

Capt. Lawrence Meehan, commander of the East Lansing State Police district, was stricken with monoxide poisoning. Lansing Fire Chief Hugh Fisher suffered a heart attack.

State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler said a half million dollars in department records were lost. As a result, he said, many highway construction projects planned for next spring will be delayed.

The fire gutted the two upper floors of the building and apparently destroyed all field notes, survey records and plans for many road jobs.

The state agriculture department virtually was wiped out and serious—if not total—loss was suffered by the state workmen's compensation commission, labor department, historical commission, tax commission and court of claims.

Finance Backer Of Hitler Dies

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Fritz Thyssen, once one of Germany's richest tycoons and the financial backer of Adolf Hitler's rise to power, died here yesterday "a man without a country."

The 77-year-old ex-industrialist, his health broken and his fortune gone, died at the home of his daughter after a heart attack.

The man whose money helped sweep Hitler into office and whom Hitler later consigned to a concentration camp, came to Argentina a year ago to visit his daughter, Countess Zichy. He had planned to stay only briefly, then go on to Belgium, but illness and an operation forced him to remain.

Name First Park in Kansas City
KANSAS CITY, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Kansas City's first park has a name at last.

The one sixth acre tract at Sixteenth where Jarboe and Bellevue join, was given to the city in 1882 but never given a name.

It is now drops Park, so named in honor of Andrew Drips, scout and fur trader.

Local PSB Chairman

C. Damon Hieronymus was named chairman of a ten-man Board of Price Stabilization for this city by Mayor Studer Thursday. The board will serve to make clear to the public the many phases and difficult parts of the sweeping price and wage stabilization move.

Mayor Picks 10-Man Board For City PSB

Damon Hieronymus Selected Chairman Of Key Committee

In compliance with a request from National Price Stabilization Chief Michael V. DiSalle, Mayor Herb Studer Thursday appointed a ten-man board of price stabilization for Sedalia.

Despite the ominous sound of the move, the committee's main duty will be largely educational. It will be responsible for informing the people of this city of the latest moves by the national board, and how these moves affect the persons of this locale.

Named as chairman of the committee was C. Damon Hieronymus, merchandising manager for C. W. Flower Dry Goods Co. and chairman of the merchant's committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Other board members are: K. U. Love, Glenn Lewis, Paul Hedderich, C. W. Mathieson, Gano Stearns, Harold Seaburg, W. J. Donath, Joe Benson and Ray Jiedel.

The mayor stated that he had appointed his committee with an eye on capability and a representative cross-section of interests concerned with the price stabilization move. A glance at the men on the list will see many fields of endeavor represented—industry, labor, veterans, retailers, education, publication etc.

In an interview Thursday evening Mr. Hieronymus stated that his committee will work in close co-operation with the regional and district offices of the PCB and assist in all ways possible to aid in the interpretation of the board's regulations.

That much confusion exists is only natural the new chairman said since the present wage and price freeze and placed in effect with much speed due to the urgency of the national situation. The freeze is broad and needs clarification.

As a preliminary step Mr. Hieronymus reminded all Chamber of Commerce members that they may expect a copy of the January 26 General Ceiling Price Regulation in the mail within the next few days. This will be of great aid in clarifying the wage-price freeze.

Embargo on Express Lifted

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—(AP)—The Railway Express agency said today it has lifted all shipment embargoes, but that some traffic delays may occur until train service is fully back to normal.

The embargoes had been in effect because of the recent railroad "sick call" walkout which faded early this week, allowing lines to begin restoring regular schedules.

Tons of Toys For European Children

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(AP)—The American Legion announced today that 95 tons of toys contributed in its 1951 "tide of toys" campaign will be loaded aboard ship at Philadelphia Monday for children in Europe.

Carlos P. Romulo, Philippine delegate to the United Nations, is scheduled to make a speech at ship-side ceremonies.

The Legion said American children have contributed more than 3,000,000 toys during the campaign. Other shipments, it said, will be made soon from both the east and west coasts.

Complaints on Added Charges

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 9.—(AP)—What did you pay for your automobile license tag this time?

G. H. Bates, state director of revenue, said yesterday a rule against added "processing fees" has not been rigidly enforced.

And Gov. Forrest Smith washed his hands of the whole affair. He said it was up to Bates. If Bates didn't intend to do anything about the added charges "it's all cleared up," the governor said.

Complaints from several out-state points indicate charges ranging from 25 to 50 cents have been added to the tag prices set by law.

Bates said the reason the departmental rule against the added fees has not been enforced is that the legal fee allowed deputy commissioners doesn't give them enough money. They get seven cents a tag.

The governor told newsmen he believed it was between the automobile owner and the deputy commissioner whether an extra fee should be paid. He said it was just like buying a tie—you can get one for $1.50 or $2.50, depending on what you want to pay.

He said it was the first time he had heard about the complaints, but he recalled that several times in the past such fees had been collected.

New Controls Batch Ahead

Insight Given on What to Expect In Near Future

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Another batch of controls is about ready to issue forth from Washington. And here are a few of the things they may have in store for you:

Still less steel, copper and aluminum for cars, refrigerators, stoves. And maybe no car model changes after this fall.

Still tighter installment credit rules—meaning you'll have to have more cash to buy the fewer autos and appliances that will be made.

Still higher prices in the stores on many non-food items—to allow merchants their traditional mark-up.

Still higher prices on many food items—not because of controls, but because of no controls at the farm level until parity is reached.

And the government moves a step nearer to the day when you will be told where you work and what you work at—a top emergency manpower director has been named to rank right along side price czar Johnston.

A host of other orders, to control prices and production, are being prepared. In one move, made yesterday, the national production authority ordered paper (Please turn to page 3, Column 4)

Eight Teachers Were Fired

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Eight public school teachers were fired by the board of education yesterday for their refusal to say whether they ever were communist party members.

The nine-man board unanimously voted to dismiss all eight on specific charges of insubordination and conduct unbecoming a teacher.

One of the teachers, David L. Friedman, 46, was charged with being an active member of the communist party.

The dismissals cost the eight teachers all pension rights.

About 150 pickets shouted their protests of the decision outside board headquarters in Brooklyn. The dismissal recommendations had been made by Attorney Theodore Klend, trial examiner at departmental hearings for the eight. The teachers have been suspended without pay since May 3, after they refused to answer or evaded questions by superintendent of schools William Jansen concerning communist party membership.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Margaret Truman, daughter of the President, will appear as a soloist with the St. Louis Symphony orchestra here March 11, it was announced yesterday.

C. of C. Mailing Out Prices as of Jan. 26

The Sedalia Chamber of Commerce is today mailing out to members of that organization the general ceiling price regulations, January 26, 1951, issued by the economic stabilization agency, Washington, D. C. which covers the price and wage freeze.

Indict 'Peace Information Center' Today

Accused of Not Registering as Foreign Agent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(AP)—A Federal grand jury today indicted the "Peace Information Center" in New York City on a charge of failing to register as a foreign agent.

The center, with headquarters at 799 Broadway, has been the chief sponsor in this country of the "Stockholm peace petition" which this government has described as a Communist-inspired "trick."

The indictment charged the Center itself and five of its officers with violating the 1938 law which requires that all persons or organizations acting in this country for a foreign principal must register with the Justice department.

Failure to register is punishable by up to $10,000 fine and five years imprisonment.

The indictment accuses the Center of acting in the United States "for the committee of the World Congress of the defenders of peace, the international organization established by the conformin to publicize the so-called Stockholm peace appeal."

Named along with the Center for failing to get the organization registered were William E. DuBois, the American labor party candidate for U. S. senator from New York state in last year's elections; Elizabeth Moos, Kyle Elkin, Abbott Simon and Sylvia Soloff, all of New York City, and described as officers at the Center.

The Justice department said Elizabeth Moos is the mother of the former wife of William Remington, ex-government official who was convicted in New York this week of perjury.

Remington, one-time $10,000 a year government economist, was accused of falsely testifying he never was a member of the Communist party. He was sentenced to five years in prison and has appealed his case.

Eight Killed as Train Hits Bus

SUDBURY, Ont., Feb. 9.—(AP)—A Canadian Pacific railway passenger train struck the rear end of a loaded bus at a crossing seven miles east of here today, killing eight men and injuring 22.

The crash occurred in 47-below zero weather and fog shrouded the region, with visibility down to 100 yards or less.

First reports from the scene said the train, out of Montreal, stopped about a half mile from the point of the accident to let off some passengers and was just picking up speed when it struck the rear of the bus. The train was running late.

The bus, owned by the Nickel Belt Coach Lines, was carrying ten men to the International Nickel plant at Consol. The driver, Edouard Garriere, was not hurt.

Robert Wall as overall chairman of county and residence, with Fike Bogutski as county chairman and Mrs. Robert Sherman and Mrs. Chris Rau, Jr., co-chairman of residence and Carl Urban, Court House.

On Whole Fighting Front Snow And Overcast Skies Held Planes to Ground

By The Associated Press

An allied task force swept through shattered Chinese Communist defenses today to reach the Han river, five miles southeast of burned-out Seoul.

The plunge to the icy Han was a dramatic climax to a UN offensive which began Jan. 25. In that time the Allies had pushed forward cautiously but murderously from 35 miles south of the old Korean capital. They had inflicted more than 61,000 casualties on the enemy; and their offensive seemed directed toward this rather than toward the gaining of territory.

U. S. Eighth army commander Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway ordered the final push to the Han but said his troops might not try to retake Seoul.

Other armored task forces on the left flank were within two miles of the city, pouring shells into Yongdongpo, the ancient city's industrial suburb. One outfit pushed eastward to within six miles of Inchon, the capital's Yellow Sea port.

Danger From Mines
Almost no enemy resistance was met in these drives. The only danger was from enemy mines strewn along the roads leading to the city.

Only on the right end of the western sector and on the adjoining central front were the Reds showing any fight. They staged early morning counterattacks but were repulsed.

On the whole fighting front, the weather had turned bitter cold again. Snow and thick overcast kept allied air support out (Please turn to page 6, Col. 2)

This Northern Pacific railway locomotive is blowing smoke rings as it pulls into Oakes, N. D., during a recent cold wave. ATLANTA, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Georgia, in a move to force financially able children to support their parents, today turned up 31 cases of rich or near rich children with one or more parents receiving public old age benefits.

The legislature has before it a bill to require children to support their parents, if able.

State Welfare Director Alan Kemper said the 31 cases he cited were just a "sampling" produced when he asked clerks to "bring me a few cases."

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Price Enforcement Suffers Growing Pains

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright 1951 By The Bell Syndicate Inc.)

WASHINGTON—Official Washington has now reached an all-time high for confusion and chaos. Part of this, of course, results from the inevitability of war's growing pains. The new stabilization program, for instance, has been moving ahead so rapidly that even the most experienced Washingtonians have been unable to keep up with it. New agencies, new directors, new phone numbers, new addresses, new authorities and new regulations have everyone in a dither.

Take the case of "Jiggs" Donahue, the able attorney who convicted West Coast labor leader Harry Bridges and who was recently appointed chief of enforcement for the new price-control agency. In his new job, Jiggs will be policing millions of prices and collaring black marketeers from coast to coast. But one morning, three days after he'd been sworn in, he discovered:

1. The price-control law gave him no power to prosecute black marketeers and price chiselers.
2. Overnight, some one had assigned him a new office, moved his desk, and dumped all his file in a big coffinlike box. He couldn't even locate his memo pad.
3. His mail had been lost somewhere between his old and his new office.
4. The "new" office, a dingy little room in an over-age building, didn't even have a telephone.

Remarkable the new price-enforcement chief: "If anyone in the United States is violating price ceilings today, I'll have to hear about it via carrier pigeon. Of course, when I hear about it, I won't have the authority to do anything about it anyway."

Prediction: However, once Donahue gets authority from Congress he'll do a bangup job of protecting housewives and small businessmen from the price chiselers.

Outtalking the Police

Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon, who is no mean talker on the Senate floor, had to outtalk two cops to get any sleep a few nights ago.

The scene was the Pennsylvania railroad station here where Morse, a champion of the railway workers was ironically stranded by his friends' walkout.

At 2 a. m., the Oregon senator folded his overcoat for a pillow, lay down on a bench, and put his hat over his face. But not for long. A railroad policeman shook him. "You can't sleep here," he announced.

Drowsy, but never at a loss for words, Morse reported: "As long as I have the sleeper ticket in my pocket and the Pennsylvania railroad does not provide the space, I can sleep here. Whenever you need this space for sitting, I'll get up. Right now, I'm going to sleep."

Outtalked, the cop walked away. An hour later another policeman tapped Morse on the soles of his shoes. "Can't sleep here, brother," he said.

The senator went through his speech all over. The policeman's eyes widened in disbelief. Finally he said: "I know you. You're Senator Morse, and you're just like you were on the television program. You outtalked 'em all then, too. I kind of thought you were right then, and I do now. You go on back to sleep."

RFC Favoritism

Here is another example of the backstage favoritism which has made the Reconstruction Finance corporation one of the most dry-rot agencies in government.

H. A. Bonyun, sales manager of industrial alcohol for the giant Publicker industries, also works for the RFC as an alcohol expert on a per diem basis. In this capacity one of Bonyun's jobs is to buy alcohol. Yet one of the biggest alcohol suppliers is Bonyun's own Publicker company. Thus he may be in the difficult position of serving two masters.

Particularly interesting is the fact that when this column queried RFC's rubber reserve regarding Bonyun's employment and the amount of alcohol purchased from the company for which he works, the RFC refused at first to make public any figures. Specifically RFC was asked how much alcohol had been purchased from Publicker.

For 24 hours the RFC flatly refused to make public these figures. Finally, when reminded that the American public is entitled to know all the facts regarding government purchases, RFC officials unbent and stated that it had bought more industrial alcohol from Publicker than from any other domestic supplier.

The average price was 91.34 cents a gallon. These contracts are not automatically awarded to the lowest bidder but are negotiated. Rubber reserve is paying anywhere from 90 cents to $1.25 a gallon.

G. G. Oberfell, RFC's production manager, stated that Bonyun is a consultant because of his expert knowledge of industrial alcohol. "It is not possible to get such knowledge outside of industry," he said.

It was further stated that Gerald Hadlock, executive director of Rubber reserve, handled the sales negotiations with Bonyun's firm, Publicker.

Behind the Fighting Lines

Our combat troops, now fighting in Korea

since last July, are showing signs of combat exhaustion. As a result, the army has started sending small groups to Japan on 10-day passes. The army is now dusting Korean civilians with DDT to kill typhus-carrying lice. No official estimate has been made of Communist casualties from typhus, but one captured North Korean medic reported 1,000 cases in his division alone. . . . The army is sending 40,000 more reinforcements to Korea, not as reinforcements but as replacements. . . . General Collins, the army chief of staff, reports privately that the army will be strong enough in 12 to 18 months for the United States to get tough in its diplomatic negotiations. . . . The army captured two Chinese Communist units the other day completely abandoned on the battlefield. They reported that 30 to 50 per cent of the Chinese army in Korea is suffering from frostbite and trench foot.

Political Facts of Life Govern The President's Tax Message

By Bruce Bissat

In asking now for only part of the $16,500,000,000 in new taxes he wants, President Truman seems to be accepting the hard facts of life on Capitol Hill.

Congressional tax leaders have made it clear that $8 billion to $10 billion is the most the President is likely to get in the months ahead. Mr. Truman's tax message settled on the latter figure.

He hasn't abandoned his overall goal, however, and plans to request more taxes later. Possibly he is counting on the painful logic of appropriations for defense to convince the lawmakers they must do still more.

Of the sum he's seeking now, the President thinks $4 billion should come from higher individual income levies, $3 billion from raised corporate taxes, and $3 billion in new excise taxes.

To get the added $4 billion from personal incomes, Mr. Truman proposes upping rates about four percentage points in each bracket. But he would keep the present exemption of $600, rather than lower it to $500 as some have proposed.

Even though the exemption may remain unchanged, it's obvious that if the President's plan goes through, all of us will know we've been hit. There is no painless way to arm ourselves and help arm the free world and still maintain civilian life at a reasonably high level.

Congress may drag its feet for many weeks on a new tax bill, but ultimately it will undoubtedly approve a measure close to the President's figure. The alternative is too grim even for a politician to contemplate. For taxation is acknowledged on all sides to be one of the chief brakes on inflation. Without it, controls and other weapons are not believed likely to work effectively.

That point is unquestionably more persuasive with the lawmakers than the argument of a balanced budget.

It is because Mr. Truman himself is now urging a balanced budget that he will be back later to seek another $6,500,000,000. When he presents that case, he'll find his audience much tougher. For the trend of congressional thinking is that $10 billion is a big enough bite to discourage heavy individual and corporate spending. A bigger one, the feeling is, would probably act too strongly as a damper on business enterprise and initiative.

Further tax demands will be a test of the President's financial wizardry since further hikes in personal and corporate levies beyond his current proposals have so dim a prospect. Unless he can devise some ingenious new taxation methods, what he is asking now is perhaps all he will get.

Soviet Soft Spot

Informed London quarters say the United States is seeking permission from Britain to station warplanes for extended periods at 14 British airfields spotted throughout the Middle East.

The plan is said to be part of a general program to establish a chain of bases around the borders of Russia. Marshall Plan funds have been used to build up major fields at three points in Greece, and other secondary fields are being improved.

There's been no indication from Britain yet. But the plan deserves British cooperation. It is a recognition, first, of the fact that we need more European and African bases to make our new bombers of intermediate range most useful; and, second, that the Middle East—with its rich oil resources—must be protected from Russian designs.

Not to be overlooked, either, is the fact that the portions of Russia closest to Mediterranean bases contain the overwhelming bulk of existing Soviet oil reserves. Russia is highly vulnerable to crippling assault in its southern regions.

The Doctor Says—

It Takes Time to Get Rid Of Troublesome Dandruff

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

"I am troubled with excessive dandruff and itching scalp, little bumps come from scratching. I wear my hair short and shampoo it once a week. My hair is thick but I'm wondering if this condition won't thin it. Its dandruff transmittable?" This note from H. J. H. is typical of the difficulty caused by dandruff, one of the most common ailments of present-day society.

Yes, unfortunately, if the dandruff continues it probably will cause the hair to get thinner. Yes to the second question also. Dandruff is probably picked up from combs or hair brushes which have come in contact with a scalp troubled with it. This has led to the belief that the cause is some infection, but so far it has not been possible to agree on any single germ as the cause.

There is so much dandruff that it is almost impossible to avoid it. Nearly everyone has at one time or another developed dandruff, and once established it is difficult to get rid of entirely. You think it is gone and then if some illness develops or you get overtired there it is back again worse than before.

Care in avoiding the use of combs and brushes used by others is about all that can be done to try to prevent dandruff. So far as treatment is concerned there are many things which can be done.

The general health should be kept up. Iron is advisable if there is anemia; cod liver oil or other vitamin-containing foods may help. Fresh air and exercise, tonics, nutritious foods and anything else which contributes to the general well-being may not cure dandruff but often help to keep it under control.

Then there is local treatment of the scalp itself. The aim is to keep the scalp free of the small greasy scales which clog up the skin. These can be removed by shampooing, but it is often helpful to soak them first with some oily preparation which softens the scales and makes them easier to remove. Sometimes a good deal of hair comes out with the shampoo.

May Come Back

The washing is often followed by the use of lotions or ointments containing stimulating chemicals (it is best not to mention any of these by name because some people are sensitive to some of them.)

Treatment of the scalp for dandruff usually has to be kept up for months at a time or it will come back. Too, there are some other skin diseases such as seborrheic dermatitis and psoriasis which resemble dandruff and for which the treatment is not just the same.

Woman's Middle Years Can be Most Rewarding of Her Life

"I like being middle-aged" is the somewhat startling title of a recent article in the magazine "Living."

It's startling only because so few middle-aged women actually DO seem to like being middle-aged.

Yet, why shouldn't a woman find the forties and fifties happy, rewarding years?

Isn't it in part due to the fact that the middle-aged woman is forever comparing herself with younger women?

Yet why, if she is forty-five, should a woman compare herself with women who are years younger and feel somewhat depressed and cheated by the comparison?

If she wants to make comparisons the middle-aged woman should compare herself with women of her own age and older.

It's perfectly healthy for Mrs. Jones to compare herself with Mrs. Smith, if they are both in the same age group, even if Mrs. Jones falls short by the comparison.

Has Chance to Match a Contemporary

For she can hope to do something about that situation. She can hope to look as well and be as attractive as another woman her age. She can hope to keep as busy and have as many interests and as many friends as another woman who is in the same boat. She can hope to learn the things another woman her age knows or is busy learning.

So if you are middle-aged and don't like it, it is probably because you are comparing yourself with women who are younger than you are, who have things you once had and are living the kind of life you once lived.

If you want to really start liking middle-age, forget about the younger women. Let them compete with each other, and measure themselves against each other.

But you be content with measuring yourself and your life against those your own age and their lives.

There's no frustration in that—just challenge.

LINCOLN AND GETTYSBURG

The Gettysburg Address made little impression. Accustomed to the florid oratory of the day, the listeners were confused by the simplicity of Lincoln's style. The applause at Gettysburg was mild and polite.

All but a few of the country's newspapers received the address coldly. Most of them made no comment. Others referred to it as "silly remarks" and "ignorant rudeness."

Eisenhower's Report, Minus Verbiage

Crimson Holiday

By Jane Holsinger

COPYRIGHT 1951 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Uncompromising, hateful Lavinia Grenable was murdered, possibly by one of her own family, when her wheel chair, with the brake sawed, plunged her oldest son Court to Lisa Farwell's death. The engagement of her oldest son Court to Lisa Farwell had been opposed by Lisa's father, Henry Farwell, who did not wish his daughter to be dominated by Lavinia. Lisa had seen her father at the scene when Mrs. Grenable was killed, but Lisa had decided to keep silent about this when Sheriff Lane questioned members of the family and the witnesses. But one of the first questions the sheriff asks Lisa is: "Did you see anyone nearby prior to, or immediately after the murder?"

XII

LISA FARWELL felt the blood running out of her hands and she held them like cold chips on her lap. How much did Sheriff Lane know? How much was he guessing? What had Angus Kent said about one of the Grenable clan making a statement that a stranger had been seen leaving the grounds? But no one could prove it—or could they?

The figure Lisa had seen on the ridge had been so plain. She couldn't mistake her own father. And then there was that shadowy remembrance of the movement in the shrubbery when Lisa had gone into the house to telephone.

That must have been Elizabeth Stratton, judging from Lisa's father's telephone conversation. He must have been talking to Elizabeth at the Grenable place just before the wheel chair rolled, carrying Lavinia Grenable to her death.

Lisa could feel everyone in the room looking at her and she raised her head and looked directly at the sheriff.

"No," she lied quietly. "I saw no one."

And she pushed back in the darkest corner of forgetfulness the vision of someone else, a still figure of a man standing in the doorway of Lavinia's den leading out to the terrace. How long had Court Grenable been standing there? Lisa would never know.

She heard Angus Kent say easily: "Do you figure it might have been someone from Sheriff Lane? I understand a prisoner escaped from the guardhouse and Tim Ellsworth said the siren went off about that time. I recall hearing it myself."

The sheriff shook his head. "The escaped prisoner never got any farther than the beach," he said. "And besides, this murder could only have been contrived by someone closely associated with the victim."

"In other words, Sheriff," came the satiric voice behind the group as Andrew Grenable strolled through the doorway, "a relative, or a close friend of our dear, departed dower obligingly did the foul deed. One of us."

While Andrew spoke with sarcasm and attempted to make a casual drop into a chair beside Lisa, he achieved merely a drunken sprawl.

In the little shocked silence that followed, Lisa felt a peculiar relief that someone had had the honesty to express his thoughts openly.

There was no revulsion in her for the haggard, too-thin man with a scathing tongue that Andrew Grenable had become since his mother changed his plans with her demolition tactics two years before.

Lisa could feel a terrible pity for him and, she discovered painfully, a warmth of understanding that she could not seem to offer Court.

NOW Andrew Grenable leaned forward around Lisa to remove the cigaret from between the lips of his brother Court. Andy carefully put the cigaret between his own. "It saves effort," he explained his action gravely to Lisa.

Andy's big-boned, thin frame was almost gaunt and the sullenness that had become his habitual mantle during these past years suddenly seemed to be replaced by a mocking devilry. One part of Lisa's mind was recognizing him as a dangerous threat to all of them, while the other was admitting that of all the Grenables there was something more likeable about this rumpled and reckless individual; perhaps in Andrew there was a hint of his father, Senator Grenable, Lisa decided.

Court turned on his brother viciously.

"Nobody wants your opinion until you're sober," he lashed out. "And I doubt if your opinion would be worth anything even then!"

"Did the sheriff accuse you?" Andrew asked politely.

COURT flushed. "He'll probably accuse all of us before he gets through. But at least the rest of us can tell him where we were when mother was killed. You weren't even home—or were you?"

"I," Andrew announced dramatically, "was lurking in the nearby taverns of Hilton, reading the settlements in my brew, which are almost as good as tea leaves and twice as stimulating."

Geri Palmer's pencil continued moving steadily, relentlessly, and Andrew watched her, absorbed.

"Good secretary," he said approvingly, and Geri raised her head in a kind of mocking acceptance of his compliment.

"Since you're here, Mr. Grenable," Sheriff Lane put in evenly, after watching the by-play between Andrew and his brother Court, "you might tell us what you know about what went on here yesterday."

There was a little waiting pause while Andrew visibly attempted to collect his mental forces. He shook his head once and winced, as though his head ached, and then he leaned forward, one hand on his knees, and looked straight into the sheriff's eyes.

"If you're asking me for an alibi, go chase yourself!"

Wilson Names Dr. Flemming As Assistant

Director Creates Policy Committee To Guide Manpower

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(P)—Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson Thursday created a top level manpower policy committee in his office, headed by Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, president of Ohio Wesleyan university.

Flemming also became Wilson's assistant in charge of manpower problems and thus became the country's number 1 authority over manpower controls and the allocation of men between civilian industry and the armed forces.

Besides Flemming, the seven-member committee will be made up of:

Assistant Secretary of Defense Anna Rosenberg; Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director; chairman Harry B. Mitchell of the Civil Service Commission; Cyrus S. Ching, chairman of the Wage Stabilization Board; representatives of the Department of Labor and Agriculture, and the deputy administrator of the Defense Production Administration.

Other Group Duties

Besides advising Wilson on allocating manpower resources—which means, among other things, the policy on deferring essential workers from military duty—the committee is instructed to:

1. Review federal policies and programs and make recommendations for the better coordination of manpower controls with production and wage-price controls.
2. Prepare for Wilson proposed legislation and orders regulating manpower.

In its latter capacity, the committee would make findings as to the type and timing of needed manpower controls, such as plant-by-plant ceilings on personnel and controls over "job-jumping" or the quitting of defense jobs for better paid civilian work.

Tobin Suffers Defeat

The announcement represents a defeat for Secretary of Labor Tobin, who set up a defense manpower office in his department some months ago and has resisted Wilson's plans to centralize authority in the Office of Defense Mobilization.

Tobin recently is understood to have proposed a committee to be headed by himself, and which would refer problems to Wilson only if the committee could not agree.

Flemming was a member of the Civil Service Commission for 10 years ending in August, 1948. He also was a member of the War Manpower Commission in

Kitts Manhunt Comes To End As FBI Nails Cagy Fugitive

OMAHA, Feb. 9.—(P)—Kenneth A. Kitts, a dapper fugitive charged with a string of midwest bank robberies and burglaries, was behind jail bars here again last night after 17 days of self-appointed freedom.

FBI agents nabbed him as he slept early today in the Tower tourist village here.

He was unarmed, surprised and docile. His normally slick blond hair had been dyed a reddish tint and waved. And he had acquired a mustache since he slipped quietly and mysteriously away from the Linn county jail at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, the night of Jan. 22.

Escape A Mystery

How Kitts managed the escape had not been explained. Kitts said only that he found an open door and walked out. The FBI was mum.

Indications were the government would press for a speedy removal to Iowa, where on Monday Kitts is scheduled to come to trial at Mason City on charges of burglarizing the Laurens, Iowa, bank last fall. The 33-year old Omaha man, a nifty dresser with a liking for expensive jewelry, was awaiting trial when he broke jail. A removal hearing was set for tomorrow.

Kitts also is under indictment for bank burglaries and robberies at Kaylor, Hurley, Selby and Garrettsburg, S. C.—robberies dating back more than two years.

Dalton said the indictment were returned by a federal grand jury at Sioux Falls last December.

Kitts Well-Known

He has been convicted in Nebraska as a burglar and habitual criminal. At Knoxville, Tenn., he is charged with impersonating a federal officer to accomplish a robbery.

Kitts came near being captured at Granite City, Ill., early yesterday. The FBI and local police sprung a trap on the rooming house where he had been staying but Kitts had left.

Electric Fence Causes Death

PUEBLO, Calif., Feb. 9.—(P)—An electrified fence around a rabbit pen was blamed by officers for the death last night of the five-year-old daughter of Charles Madden.

Sid Jolivet, sheriff's homicide detective, said Sylvia Madden apparently stepped accidentally on the wire mesh fence here father placed around his rabbit pen to frighten dogs away. The officer said she fell on a 110-volt wire attached to the fence.

Her body was found by neighbor children.

of the skies. It also kept Gen. Douglas MacArthur from landing at U. S. Eighth army headquarters for his tenth visit to Korea from Tokyo.

U. S. and South Korean troops in the rugged mountain country of the central front ran into stiff enemy opposition. They had to shell each hill and send out patrols to take the positions before they could move forward. These forces were about 25 miles south of the 38th parallel.

A South Korean division banded up against 3,000 North Korean Reds on the outskirts of Chobal, 30 miles north of Chechon and was stalled. On the east coast, other South Korean occupied Kangnung, 17 miles south of the 38th parallel.

The Reds released 41 American, British and South Korean prisoners of war during the night at two places — 37 on the western front and four on the central front.

Pounded by Artillery

WITH U. S. 25th DIVISION ON WESTERN FRONT, Korea, Feb. 9 (AP)—American artillery pounded Seoul tonight.

Guns poured repeated volleys into the former South Korean capital, beginning at 6:35 p. m. (3:35 a. m. CST).

The shells took 45 seconds to smack into the city. Their target was a cluster of four camouflaged tanks in the southwestern sector.

As the Allied artillery shelled the city, the great guns of the Battleship Missouri pounded Inchon, port city of Seoul.

Allied troops are only six miles from Inchon and have cut the main Seoul-Inchon road.

Allied forces, dug in less than three miles from Seoul, probed to the banks of the Han river tonight.

Both Seoul and Yongdongpo, its industrial suburb, seemed doomed to fall.

Communist resistance to the powerful tank and infantry drive on the extreme western end of the 40-mile front disappeared almost completely today.

Plan to Press For Shakeup In The RFC

Fullbright For Placing it Under Administrator

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Senate critics of the Reconstruction Finance corporation (RFC) squared off today to force a shakeup of the big lending agency on their own terms rather than those of President Truman.

One of the bi-partisan group, Senator Capehart (R-Ind.) declared he would "give the President just 30 days to start a housecleaning at the RFC" or face a move to abolish it.

The President told his news conference yesterday he intends to submit an RFC reorganization plan to Congress. And he described asinine a Senate Banking subcommittee report which charged the agency had fallen under domination of outsiders, one of whom it said, was Donald Dawson, a White House aide.

The subcommittee accused RFC directors Walter I. Dunham, William E. Willett and G. Edward Rowe of having yielded to improper influences in granting loans.

Mr. Truman said Senator Fullbright (D-Ark.), the subcommittee chairman, had avoided seeing him after the report was published. From Miami, Fla., where his office said he went to make a speech, Fullbright telephoned that this was "not true."

"I should like to make it clear," he said in a statement issued by his aides, "that the subcommittee has given the President every opportunity to clean up the RFC."

For One Man At Head Fullbright has urged that Congress abolish the agency's five-man board of directors and replace it with a one-man administrator. He also wants new legal safeguards against what he calls favoritism in granting loans.

Mr. Truman told his news conference he was thinking of reviving his once-rejected proposal to make the RFC an arm of the commerce department, or offering a new plan to place the agency under the Treasury department. The RFC now has independent status.

Such a reorganization scheme would have to clear through the Senate Expenditures committee, headed by Democratic Senator McClellan, a Fullbright's Arkansas colleague.

McClellan told a reporter any reorganization plan proposed by the President as a rival to the Fullbright plan "would have to be a pretty good one if they want anything done about it."

He said his committee "didn't take kindly" to the President's attempt last year to shift the RFC over to the Commerce department while the Fullbright subcommittee had its inquiry under way.

Senator Schoepfel (R-Kas) told a reporter he'll back Fullbright's stand, proposing however that RFC be headed by a new three-man board instead of a single administrator.

"The President can't clean it up by tacking the agency onto another department, and keeping on his staff the man the subcommittee found exerting improper influence on it," Schoepfel said.

During Scout Week several of the Scout Troops have put displays in the windows of some of the local merchants, commemorating the Scouting Program.

Harold Seaberg, Chairman of the Display Awards, stated that all the troops displaying had done such a grand job with their respective displays, that it was the opinion of the committee that each participating troop be awarded a Blue Robbon.

Talk on Rates to Underwriters

The Sedalia Life Underwriters meeting was held at the Bothwell hotel at 12:00 o'clock today.

After the business session Jack Crawford introduced William Edom, of the Missouri Inspection Bureau, who talked on "Rate Making for Fire Insurance in Sedalia."

Clark Sentenced For Four Years

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 9.—(AP)—George R. Clark, former Jackson county assessor, today was sentenced to four years in prison and fined $12,500 for federal income tax fraud.

Judge Albert L. Reeves fined the former golf professional $2,500 on each of five counts and sentenced him to four years on each of the counts, with the sentence on counts 2, 3, 4 and 5 to run concurrently with the first count.

Clark was found guilty January 25 by Judge Reeves following a trial for which the former assessor waived a jury. Clark was indicted by a federal grand jury last September 12, charging he evaded taxes totalling $14,401.24 in the 5-year period from 1944 through 1948.

The grand jury cited Clark for reporting $115,714.31 income for those years whereas he actually received $143,082.70.

He could have received a fine of $10,000 and five-year sentence on each of the five counts.

First Class Scout awards to Carl Moser, Francis Moser, and David Wasson all of Troop 58, Bill Sutton, Troop 54, and Harold Lee Smith and James Merrick of Troop 63. Presentation of the First and Second Class Scout Awards were made by Chester Brown, secretary-manager of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce.

The next awards to be presented were those of Merit Badges, and Reinhold Miller, Scout Executive of the Lake of the Ozarks Council presented David Hall of Troop 32 the Merit Badges in Carpentry and Stamp Collection. Those of Troop 52 unable to be present to receive their awards were Ronald Kaullen, Carpentry, Larry Owen, Carpentry and Home Repairs, and James Phelps, Reading.

He also mentioned delay on a joint study of the Grand river basin of northern Missouri and southern Iowa. This study is complete, he said, "except for review by the state."

"I believe it is dangerous for the people of the lower basin to permit the flood control and development program to lag too long," he said.

Floods like the one in the Nemaha basin of Nebraska last year, he said, "presage the tragic consequences of similar or greater floods in this part of the basin if adequate tributary control is not provided."

It's all very well to talk about upstream controls and conservation, the general said, but these things are primarily to help the land and don't do much to stop floods. This is the way he put it:

"x x x It is physically and economically impracticable to accomplish any noticeable degree of flood control in major waterways by means of storage in farm ponds."

He suggested the solution is to "plan comprehensively for water resource control and development."

Gladwin E. Young of Lincoln, Neb., is chairman of the joint federal-state committee and represents the U. S. Department of Agriculture. In another speech he put in a plea for quick congressional approval of the 30-year agricultural plan for basin development.

Some parts of the plan may have to be abandoned in this period of defense emergency, he said.

"On productive land there should be immediate acceleration in the application of critically needed terracing, grassed waterways."

mobilization met in closed session with the price control chiefs. Under the present law, price ceilings can not be imposed on farm products until they have reached either (1) parity or (2) the pre-Korean war levels, whichever is higher. Parity is a figure calculated to give the farmer a fair return for his products.

DiSalle's associates had said in advance he had decided against recommending changing the parity proviso now despite official estimates that grocery prices of wheat, eggs, citrus fruits and other below-parity foods might go up five per cent.

A government report yesterday showed that retail food prices hit an all-time peak in the last half of January, about eight per cent above the level before the Korean war.

Maybank also reported that DiSalle informed the committee the price freeze put into effect on Jan. 25 will be replaced "shortly" with a norder fixing price margins.

Under this, Maybank quoted DiSalle as saying, prices on some items will rise 5 to 7 per cent, while in other cases prices will be rolled back.

DiSalle also gave the committee a fill-in on the slaughter control order aimed at preventing black markets.

Although livestock is not under price control, meat prices are frozen at all levels at the highest prices received by each seller during the period Dec. 19-Jan. 25.

Urge Move on Flood Control

Brig. Gen. Sturgis Calls Attention To Slow Progress

By Larry Hall

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Brig. Gen. S. D. Sturgis, Jr., told the state of Missouri in effect today to get moving on flood control.

He said he was disappointed at slow progress in this downstream state of the Missouri river valley. Missouri has rejected several army engineer proposals for flood control dams.

General Sturgis made his remarks in a speech prepared for delivery at the 46th session of the Missouri basin inter-agency committee.

It was his farewell speech to the committee as Missouri river division engineer at Omaha. He took over last Monday as commander of the sixth armored division at Fort Leonard Wood.

That's south of here on the southern edge of the Missouri basin. Almost two years ago Sturgis attended his first meeting of the inter-agency committee here.

Lack of Progress Since then he has learned about a joint federal-state study of the Osage river basin in Missouri and Kansas. Today he called for a drive to put the final Osage basin plan into effect. So far, he said, there has been "a disappointing lack of progress."

He also mentioned delay on a joint study of the Grand river basin of northern Missouri and southern Iowa. This study is complete, he said, "except for review by the state."

"I believe it is dangerous for the people of the lower basin to permit the flood control and development program to lag too long," he said.

out opened the gateway to cross-country traffic, and the movement of vital freight log-jammed in the city's immense yards.

Industry also joined in getting back to full production. Thousands of workers made idle by the stoppage awaited back-to-work calls. Some 250,000 workers in rail-related industries, notably automotive, steel and coal, were laid off by the strike which halted delivery of materials and cars used in shipping.

Losses were measured in millions of dollars and thousands of tons of vital war materials.

The walkout by the switchmen was the second within two months. A similar work stoppage in mid-December ended after three days and after demands by President Truman and rail union officers that the brotherhoods.

As the strike appeared bearing a complete end, freight embargoes were lifted in various areas. Lifting of the partial mail embargo that has remained in effect in some areas was expected.

Many carriers reported service was rapidly returning to normal and many passenger trains, cancelled during the walkout, were being restored.

Freight Tieup To Be Broken But rail spokesmen said it will be several days before freight operations are normal in the big rail centers. In Chicago alone, where some 5750 switchmen are employed, about 40,000 freight cars were tied up.

The army's "work or be fired" ultimatum order reportedly irked some 600 southern railway workers in Knoxville, Tenn. And they did not join in the back-to-work movement last night. About 100 returned to work.

Several of the workers were reported disgruntled because of Mr. Truman's remarks at a press conference in which he accused rail union leaders of running out of an agreement like a bunch of Russians.

But D. W. Brozman, general manager of the Southern's central lines, said it "looks like the strike might be beraking up." In South Carolina the carrier said a large percentage of strikers had returned to work.

Another hold-out area was Pittsburgh where Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio switchmen remained idle.

But in Ohio there was a big return to work in Toledo, Fort Lorain and Lorain.

Full crews were reported in Washington and Oregon on the Union Pacific, the Spokane, Portland and Seattle and the Southern Pacific.

The strike ended in most of California. The Southern Pacific resumed commuter service in the San Francisco bay region. There was a 100 per cent return to work in the Los Angeles yards as Santa Fe switchmen, the last holdouts, voted to end their walkout.

All switchmen were back on the job in Montana, with the last group returning at Butte last night.

RELIGIOUS REMARKABLES - - - By Scheel

Human Greatness

It is a mistake for any man to underestimate himself. Lack of proper self-esteem hinders the individual in his social and business life. It is even more unfortunate in the spiritual life. Spiritual self-disparagement often conduces to despair. It is opposed to the truth that Christ died not only for all but for each.

It is important for anyone burdened by a sense of unworthiness to reflect that the Son of God thought so much of him that He underwent torture and death for his sake. Christ would have immolated Himself to redeem even one soul. This bespeaks the immeasurable value Christ placed on the individual. Should any man presume to think less of himself than did the Savior Himself?

The individual being so inherently precious in God's eyes, it follows that he is capable of doing great things for Him. That does not mean he has to be a noble leader of men, an intrepid and daring missionary, or a saint scaling the heights of human perfection. God does not demand spectacular achievement from all His creatures. What He does is to build greatness into even the little things His followers do out of love for Him.

Greatness is a relative thing, at least where God is concerned. It is His way to make precious the humblest deed done in His name. Not only that—He asks and expects these tributes. The prayer of a child is infinitely pleasing to God. So is the devotion of a mother as she pours out her love in patience and tenderness. So is the daily toil of a worker humbly and conscientiously filling his small role in life. Among men everywhere, God sees a greatness and a dignity that others never perceive.

The poorest life can be of the utmost value in God's eyes. This is not because we are fine and splendid in ourselves. It is because God gave a rare and distinctive importance to each soul. It is because he gives us the capacity and the urge to do great things for Him.

There is a special task for all in the divine scheme. It may be something that seems hardly worthwhile. Perhaps it is just to bear troubles patiently, to share the sorrows of others, to encourage the weak and oppressed, or merely to pray well and often. All we need to know is that, however the world judges us, we shall grow in greatness to the degree that we do what God bids.

JESUS: Savior and Friend
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

It was as the Savior of men, the Redeemer, that Jesus fulfilled His earthly mission, but the Gospels reveal on almost every page how the Savior of Men was also teacher, healer and friend.

It was Paul who admonished his fellow-Christians to "rejoice with them that do rejoice, and weep with them that weep," but this was among the many things that Paul had learned from his Master.

For Jesus was the great Sympathizer, entering into the joys and sorrows of life, weeping with those who wept, but sharing the joys of a wedding feast. He freely accepted hospitality and mingled with men, especially with the common people "who heard Him gladly." In innumerable ways He revealed His true humanity.

We call Him "the Man of Sorrows," and it befits one who bore the world's sins and invited the heavily laden to come to Him for rest. But back of the sorrow, and the tragedy of the sin that crucified Him, was One who was neither reclusive, nor ascetic.

If we would see Jesus as He was, let us read into the nicknames that He gave to some of His followers—the wavering Simon, whom he called Peter, a Rock, and the flaming and ambitious zealots, James and John, who He called the "Sons of Thunder."

It is this humanity of the divine Christ that must be experienced, if we would know in its fulness the continuing Presence of the Master.

He is not only our Savior, but also our Friend. He called His disciples "friends," and He is the friend of all who would be His disciples.

This continuing Presence and Friendship of Jesus is not a myth, nor an imagination, nor an emotional illusion. Nothing is more sure than that thousands have felt, and feel, the reality of that spiritual Presence.

It brings into daily life and experience the warmth and tenderness, the faith and hope, the uplifting word, that helped and inspired and blessed those who met the Master in His earthly life.

But if one would have that experience of the present Christ today, he must know that Master in His earthly life. We cannot have spiritual communion with those whom we do not know. To those who would know and feel the presence of the Christ, as Friend, Inspirer and Helper, I commend the reading of the New Testament and especially of the four Gospels.

It is not enough to read a chapter or an incident, here and there. One should read it as one would read a book that he wished to know in its heart and in every part.

To one who thus reads the Gospels the New Testament will, I believe, undoubtedly reveal its message and make the Christ not only a great Savior in an ancient Holy Land, but a living Presence, a Companion, and Friend in life's daily way.

Skulls to Stones

The old custom of placing stone balls atop gate posts is said to have had its origin in prehistoric times, when human skulls were placed upon stakes outside of dwellings.

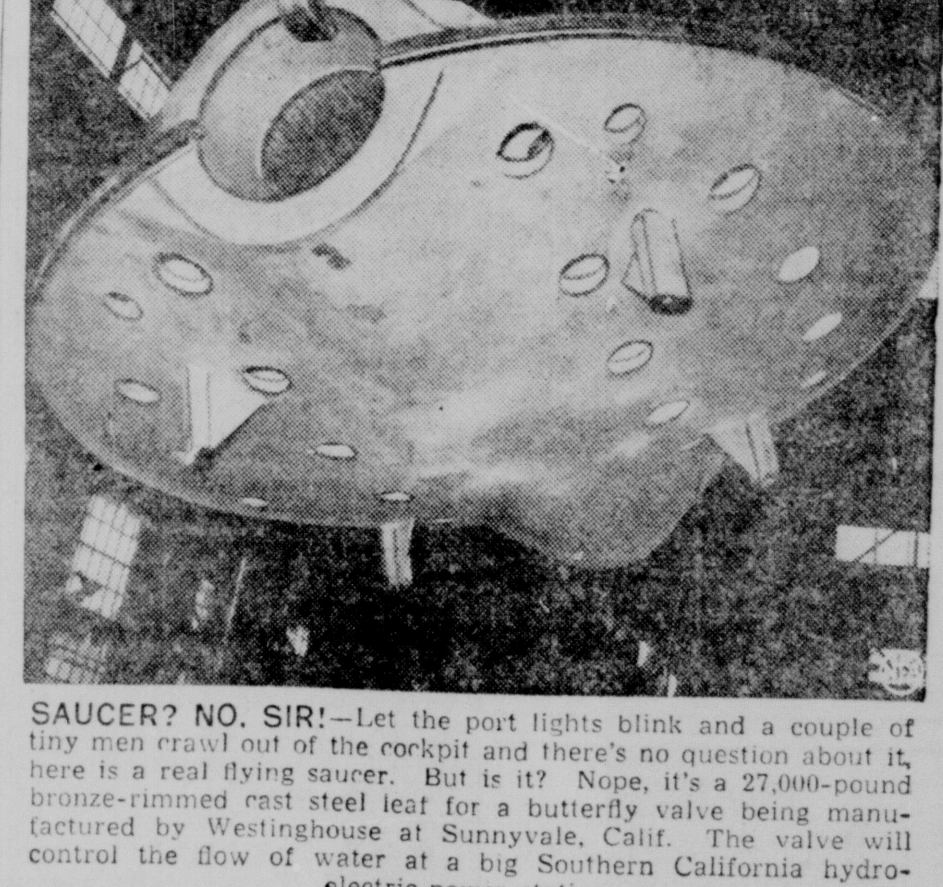

Snorkel fast is becoming a common word in the English language. It is the system used by submarines enabling them to remain submerged for weeks, getting air from the atmosphere through a breathing tube.

Predicts Cubs Will be in the First Division

Frank Frisch
Expects to be in Upper Bracket

(This is another of a series of 16 articles written by the major league managers for the Associated Press under their own bylines giving a preview of their 1951 teams and sizing up the other clubs.)

By Frank Frisch
CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—(AP)—At the risk of going out on the limb, I'm going to predict a first division finish for my Chicago Cubs this year. I'm not going to be satisfied with fifth place.

I agree with all these opposing managers who think we are going to make it rough on them next summer. I'm glad they know. It will save me the job of telling them. Not that I expect to win the pennant, mind you. But no like the Giants did last year. I'll tell you why.

We're going to be a young club—world conditions permitting. We finished seventh last year because we played out the string on our youth movement. We could have done better. Maybe finished a place or two higher, but only at a sacrifice of rushing our kids, whom we knew we had to develop this year.

We didn't get jittery, despite the mistakes our kids made, even in the face of serious injuries that sidelined men like Preston Ward, Phil Cavarretta, Hal Jeffcoat, Walter Dubiel and Warren Hacker for long stretches.

Reliance on youngsters
Now we're ready to go higher with that extra experience under our youngsters' belts. Take our infield—Preston Ward, 23, at first; Wayne Terwilliger, 25, second base; Roy Smalley, 24, shortstop; Bill Serena, 26, or Ransom Jackson, 24 at third. If I can keep that unit together for the next couple of years, it will become the talk of the league.

Not a bad outfield, either. I don't think you will find many outfielders in the business who outclass Andy Pafko. Then there is Hank Sauer who slammed 32 homers and drove in 103 runs. And don't forget Jeffcoat who was out with injuries most of last year. In addition I've got Carmen Mauro, a good young prospect, and Frank Baumholtz, who is coming back for another chance after leading the Pacific Coast League in hitting last year.

Sure the Cubs could use more pitching. But who can't? It was our biggest problem last year. However, I sincerely believe we will be stronger there this year. They tell me that Bob Schultz, a lefthander who won 25 games in Nashville last year, really has it. I look for him to stick. Then there's Cal McLish. He's been up before. He should be ready now after winning 20 at Los Angeles.

A couple of other newcomers who should help us are Omar Lown and Eddie Chandler. We drafted them from the Dodger organization. We also bought Chuck Connors and Dee Fondy, a couple of first basemen from the Dodger organization, for protection against the possibility of losing Ward to the armed forces.

Our holdover staff is a good one, too. In Johnny Schmitz and Bob Rush we have two of the best pitchers in the league. You can discount those 20 losses suffered by Rush last year. He has the ability to become the best right-hander in the league. He is still developing. We hope that Frank Hiller, Paul Minner and Dubiel will continue to improve.

We lost a fine young catcher in Carl Sawatski, and may also lose Ward to the army, but our catching should be taken care of in good style by Mickey Owen, Al Walker and Forrest Burgess.

Of course, this picture can change overnight, as in the case of the other clubs. But as things stand now I'd say Brooklyn and Philadelphia are going to fight it out for the pennant. I don't concede a thing to any of the other clubs.

MoPac Boosters to Show Sports Film

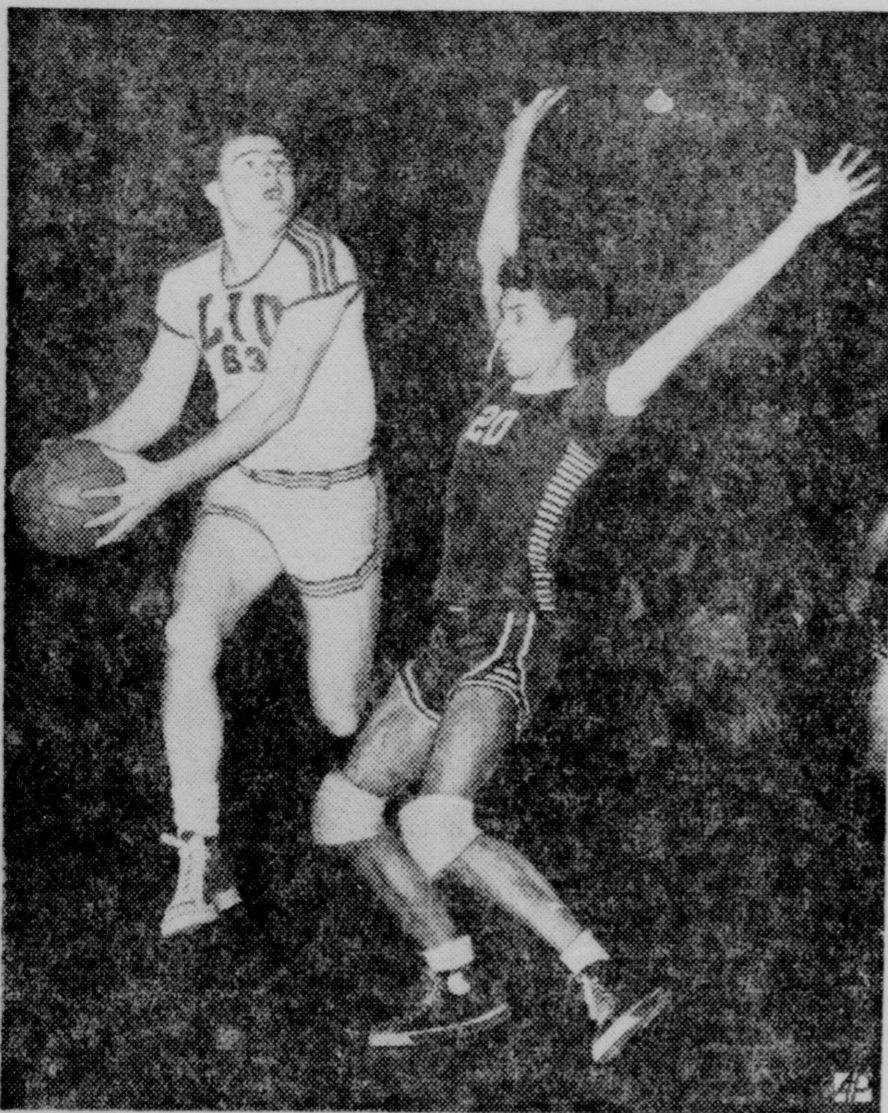

The Missouri Pacific Boosters will show the motion pictures "World Series of 1950" along with two other baseball movies on Thursday evening, February 15 at the Whittier school auditorium, starting at 7:30 o'clock.

The public is invited to attend this meeting and see the world series pictures. A program of songs by a well known quartet will be given preceding the showing of the films.

The program will be in charge of Charles Keller, chairman of the entertainment committee, H. L. Williams, chairman of the athletic committee and Walter Jesse, vice president of the Ban Johnson league.

Players now in professional baseball, who have been playing in Sedalia, have been invited to attend and will probably tell some of their experiences in the playing of professional ball. They are Bud Thomas, Marshall, Texas; Salty Shoemaker, Kingston, Ont.; Ralph Fall, Vidalia, Lyons, Ga.; and Don McMillen, Jacksonville, Fla.

CMSC Mules Play NWSC Saturday

The MIAA conference basketball championship may be decided this Saturday night when the Central Missouri State College Mules engage in the first of a two game series with Northwest Missouri State Bearcats. The "pay-off" tilt for both teams will be played in Warrensburg's Morrow gymnasium starting at eight o'clock.

The Mules and the Bearcats are tied for league leadership at the present time with five wins and one defeat each. The lone CMSC loss came at the hands of last place Cape Girardeau, while Maryville has lost only to second place Southwest Missouri State of Springfield. The Bearcats will be slight favorites to edge the Kethmen, although the Mules will be remembering it was the Maryville five that knocked Warrensburg out of the title picture last year.

Coach Earl K. Keth has announced that star forward Jim Hoverder, a 6-foot, 6-inch, letterman, will be ready to perform at top speed again for the first time in two weeks. The high scoring junior has been suffering from an injured leg since being in an auto accident several weeks ago. Hoverder has been the team's keenest competitor this season and is referred to as the "cheerleader" of the squad. The Bearcats may have a rough time grabbing rebounds with Hoverder in top shape.

Monday night the Mules return to the Morrow gymnasium floor for a non-conference contest with the Quincy college Hawks.

Business College Beat Lakers 74-66

The Sedalians enter the Warsaw Invitational tournament next week which is sponsored by the Lions club of that city.

Williams Signs With Red Sox

BOSTON, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox slugger, and reputedly the highest paid player in baseball last year, signed his 1951 contract today. Williams received an estimated $125,000 last season.

The Sox announced Williams telephoned general manager Joe Cronin from Florida to tell him he had signed.

The Sox office, as usual declined to discuss Williams' salary. Cronin said Williams told him he was "well satisfied."

Tigers Play Last Home Game Of 1951 Cage Season Tonight

The Smith-Cotton Tigers will close their 1951 regular home cage season tonight on the local hardwoods as they swap baskets with Coach Bob Roark's Columbia Kewpies at 7:30 o'clock. The change in time is due to the Junior-Senior Prom which is to be held in the cafeteria, starting at 9:00 o'clock.

The Bengals returned home Wednesday night from their long road trip to Hannibal and Mexico, with a win and a loss.

They knocked the Pirates out of the running for another conference championship as they out-dribbled them 49-38. The win for Jim Ball's teams over the Pirates was the first in three years. The Colonels of MMA bumped the Tigers for the second time this season as they ripped the locals 55-44. The Bengals held a third period lead but fell behind again as the MMA hotrock, Grevan, began to find the range. Grevan pumped in 27 counters to run his two game total for conference play to 53 points against Smith-Cotton.

The Columbians are presently in the CEMO lead with a 6 and 2 record but the Jefferson City Jays are close behind. The Tigers have handed the Kewpies one of their two set-backs in conference play as they held Kewpie ace, Bob Musgrave to three points, probably his seasons low for one contest.

A win for the Bengals tonight would throw the conference top spot into a two way tie with the Jays and Columbia.

Tonight's game will close the careers of four seniors on the Smith-Cotton court. They are Bill McCrary a three year letterman, Bill Morgan, a two year letterman and Bob Shawver and Eddie Johnson, both one year lettermen.

Choked Nile

"Sudd," floating masses of vegetation, choked the Nile River to a depth of 20 feet in blocks a mile long, until removed in 1900 by British gunboats that pulled the blocks apart with hawsers, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Unemployment Ratio

A survey indicates that unemployment in the United States rarely falls below five per cent of our working force, even in prosperous periods. In the relatively prosperous 1920-1927 period, it averaged 5.4 per cent.

The Tigris-Euphrates valley, site of the world's first large-scale irrigation project, could support six times its present population of 8,000,000 if irrigation was developed to its full limits.

Railmen Get Word On Strike

Army Issues Order Giving Switchmen 48 Hours To Get Back To The Job

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8—(P)—The Army today ordered striking rail workers to get back on the job within 48 hours or be fired. It acted on orders of President Truman, who accused the union leaders of behaving like a bunch of Russians.

Coupled with the order, the Army offered a comparatively small pay boost—approximately half of what the men would have received if they had abided by a White House agreement initiated by their leaders on Dec. 21.

The order set 3 p.m., C.S.T., Saturday as the deadline for ending the nine-day-old "sick call" strike. It said those who fail to return will be dismissed unless they can prove physical inability to work.

Truman Denounces Strike

Army Secretary Pace issued the order shortly after President Truman denounced the wildcat strikes as "intolerable" and accused the unions of running out on the Dec. 21 agreement like a bunch of Russians.

Some reporters thought his remarks about Russians were aimed at the strikers, but later the White House said the denunciation was directed "exclusively to the four presidents of the Railroad Brotherhoods who signed a memorandum of agreement at the White House on Dec. 21, 1950."

Mr. Truman told his news conference he was instructing the army, which has been technically running the railroads since last Aug. 27, to take "appropriate action immediately" to get the roads in full operation.

The Army's order threw union leaders into consternation. They said they were surprised and shocked by the action, which came amid reports that the strike was virtually ended in most parts of the country.

A scheduled meeting between the federal mediation board and heads of the four big rail unions was delayed to give the conferees time to study the order.

Pay Raise for Those Returning

The Army's announcement said workers who stay on the job will receive pay raises, retroactive to Oct. 1, of 12½ cents an hour for yardmen and yard masters, and five cents an hour for employees in road service. The increases are temporary, pending a settlement of the wage dispute.

Under the terms of the White House sponsored Dec. 21 agreement, yard workers would have received a 25-cent hour wage boost and road service workers would have had a 10-cent hourly raise.

Railroad officials estimated the retroactive 12½ cent raise would amount to about $140 in back pay for each yard worker.

Representatives of the four unions signed the Dec. 21 agreement, but rank-and-file union leaders repudiated the pact and last week began a series of walkouts that paralyzed rail traffic at key points across the country.

At his news conference, Mr. Truman said emphatically that the nation's railroads are going to run, no matter what it takes to run them.

Prisoner Dies Of Suffocation In Versailles

Willard Kelly, 37, suffocated in the Morgan county jail at Versailles Thursday morning at 2:00 o'clock. He had been placed in the jail Wednesday evening at 7:00 o'clock for intoxication.

Kelly had apparently been smoking and two heavy wool blankets on his bunk ignited. Kelly rolled off the bunk and was not burned by the smoldering blankets which caused his death.

Sheriff Corrie Wood went to the second floor to investigate after hearing a call for help from another prisoner who had been awakened by the dense smoke.

Coroner B. L. Medicus and Dr. Jack Gunn pronounced that Kelly's death was due to suffocation.

His mother, Mrs. Arch Kelly of Versailles and one brother, Quincy Kelly of Kansas City survive. His father died six months ago.

Local PSB Chairman

C. Daymon Hieronymus was named chairman of a ten-man Board of Price Stabilization for this city by Mayor Studer Thursday. The board will serve to make clear to the public the many phases and difficult parts of the sweeping price and wage stabilization move.

Mayor Picks 10-Man Board For City PSB

Daymon Hieronymus Selected Chairman Of Key Committee

In compliance with a request from National Price Stabilization Chief Michael V. DiSalle, Mayor Herb Studer Thursday appointed a ten-man board of price stabilization for Sedalia.

Despite the ominous sound of the move, the committee's main duty will be largely educational. It will be responsible for informing the people of this city of the latest moves by the national board, and how these moves affect the persons of this locale.

Named as chairman of the committee was C. Daymon Hieronymus, merchandising manager for C. W. Flower Dry Goods Co. and chairman of the merchant's committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Other board members are: K. U. Love, Glenn Lewis, Paul Hedderick, C. W. Mathieson, Gano Stearns, Harold Seaburg, W. J. Donath, Joe Benson and Ray Jiedel.

The mayor stated that he had appointed his committee with an eye on capability and a representative cross-section of interests concerned with the price stabilization move. A glance at the men on the list will see many fields of endeavor represented—industry, labor, veterans, retailers, education, publication etc.

In an interview Thursday evening Mr. Hieronymus stated that his committee will work in close co-operation with the regional and district offices of the PCB and assist in all ways possible to aid in the interpretation of the board's regulations.

That much confusion exists is only natural the new chairman said since the present wage and price freeze and placed in effect with much speed due to the urgency of the national situation. The freeze is broad and needs clarification.

As a preliminary step Mr. Hieronymus reminded all Chamber of Commerce members that they may expect a copy of the January 26 General Ceiling Price Regulation in the mail within the next few days. This will be of great aid in clarifying the wage-price freeze.

Explosion Kills 11, Injures 50 More In St. Paul, Minn.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 8—(P)—An explosion tore apart the six-story minerals building of the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co. here today, killing 11 workmen and injuring more than 50. Four are in critical condition.

Twelve hours after the blast shattered the steel, concrete and brick structure, Fire Chief William Maddocks and company officials reported that all men in the plant had been accounted for.

Search Temporarily Halted

Work of searching the jumbled mass of twisted girders and rubble, where firemen thought other bodies might be found, was abandoned for the night.

John Schultz, one workman who was injured slightly, said, "I thought an atom bomb had hit."

The explosion caught more than 60 men in and around the building, shortly after the 8 a. m. shift came on duty. Outside the temperature stood at 12 below zero. The company makes its trademarked "scotch tape" and a wide variety of abrasives.

Ed Jorissen, described the mishap as "like going from daylight to midnight in one second" He suffered minor injuries.

Wide Slash Planned In Civilian Metal Use

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8—(P)—A slash of 25 to 40 per cent in use of steel, copper and aluminum in automobiles, stoves and home appliances is planned April 1.

Disclosing this today, officials of the National Production Authority said the resulting cut in actual numbers of these items may be somewhat less, depending on the manufacturer's ability to save materials and use substitutes.

A separate order, due in a few days, is expected to open the way to price increases on a number of important consumer goods. It will cover men's and women's clothes, cosmetics, furniture, rugs, lamps, pots and pans.

This Office of Price Stabilization regulation will change the type of controls on these items, doing away with the price freeze and substituting "margin" type orders which were promised when the general price freeze was imposed Jan. 25.

Officials also hope that the changeover will enable them to effect some price rollbacks.

Mark-Up Restriction Limited

The new order will restrict the percentage of markup between what a retailer pays for goods and what he charges the customer.

Price rises are anticipated because retailers will be able under the new regulation to pass along to customers many raises which wholesalers had made before the freeze. This will prevent a squeeze on a retailer where his prices have risen, economists said.

In addition, OPS officials talked of restricting the size of margins to what they were on some selected date. This is where the possible price reductions would come in.

It was not clear when the margin rollback order would be issued.

The mobilization drive to prepare the nation against the dangers of war brought these other developments:

1. The government directed paper mills to reserve 5 to 10 per cent of paper production each month for possible government purchase. Reserves not taken by the tenth of each month would be released for private orders.

No Civilian Cut

In so ordering, the NPA said the amount of paper available for civilian consumption is not expected to be cut because the priority system will enable producers to handle government business with least disruption to normal procedure.

2. President Truman told reporters that a recommendation of cotton state senators for removal of all price controls from raw cotton is under study by the Secretary of Agriculture and the Defense Production Administration. He did not indicate what may be done.

Some government officials were expressing belief privately that the most effective way to keep food prices in line is to pay subsidies to the farmers, as was done in the day of the Office of Price Administration (OPA). This would require a change in the law. Most farm groups oppose subsidies.

One important OPS official said that in 1942 food prices continued to rise sharply for several months after the OPA issued its general maximum price regulation, and did not really level off until the subsidy program got started in a big way.

Strike Hits Chicken Hatchery

SALEM, Ind., Feb. 8—(P)—The Salem hatchery said today the transportation tie-up resulting from the switchmen's walkout has forced it to destroy 8,500 baby chicks and eventually may have to destroy about 50,000.

Neglect Led To Disaster Charges DA

WOODBURGE, N. J., Feb. 8—(P)—The Pennsylvania railroad was accused of "disregard for human life" today as multiple probes sought the cause of Tuesday night's wreck which took 83 lives.

The Middlesex county prosecutor's office made the accusation today in nearby New Brunswick, while the Interstate Commerce Commission started taking testimony in New York City. The New Jersey Utility Commission participated in the ICC proceedings.

As the investigation got underway, twelve of 500 persons injured in the crash-up hovered between life and death in hospitals not far from where wind-lashed railroad workers toiled in sub-freezing winds to remove twisted wreckage.

Assistant Middlesex County Prosecutor Alex Eber, in a statement which he termed "my personal indictment of the Pennsylvania railroad," said his office would explore any criminal aspects involved and "present the matter at some appropriate time to the grand jury."

Eber, in charge of the county and municipal investigation, told a news conference that the "absence of caution lights" along the right of way near a temporary trestle "is necessarily subject to public censure."

Eber charged the railroad with "a complete and indifferent disregard for human life." The big railroad had no comment.

Electric Fence Causes Death Of Young Girl

PUENTE, Calif., Feb. 8—(P)—An electrified fence around a rabbit pen was blamed by officers for the death tonight of the five-year-old daughter of Charles Madden.

Sid Jolivet, sheriff's homicide detective, said Sylvia Madden apparently stepped accidentally on the wire mesh fence her father placed around his rabbit pen to frighten dogs away. The officer said she fell on a 110-volt wire attached to the fence.

Her body was found by neighbor children.

Hoover To Speak Tonight At Eight

NEW YORK, Feb. 8—(P)—Former President Herbert Hoover goes on the air tomorrow night for his first foreign policy discussion since his now-famous "Gibraltar" speech of six weeks ago.

He will be heard over the Mutual system at 8 p. m. (CST) in a 30-minute address entitled "We should revise our foreign policies."

Cold Wave Strikes Northeast Seaboard

NEW YORK, Feb. 8—(P)—Raw cold pouring in from the Arctic hit the northeast United States today. Four deaths were attributed to it.

The weather bureau warned it would get still colder tonight. Rain that preceded the frigid blast turned to ice on streets and highways, slowing traffic. High winds downed power and telephone lines in many areas.

Schools were closed in parts of upstate New York where a blizzard blocked highways and stranded motorists.

Georgia Has High Rate Of Rejections For Draft

ATLANTA, Ga. Feb. 8—(P)—Authorities today reported a 46 per cent rejection of men called in the draft in Georgia, but said the state is filling its monthly quota.

The army observed without comment the rejection rate included 37 per cent for failure to meet mental standards and nine per cent on physical grounds.

Even Doctors Must Relax

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 8—(P)—Mary G. Reber is donating $50,000 for a new library at the Washington University School of Medicine with the understanding it will house no books on medicine.

She said in announcing the gift today that she wants the library to serve as a place where students can relax and discuss issues of the day.

Newschart above shows how the British steel industry has done under private ownership in recent years. The hoped-for 1951 production is expected to remain close to 1950's figure (estimated) in view of the labor shortage. Also there have been no recent improvements in capital equipment. In 1950 the U. S. turned out 96 million net tons of steel, or more than five times what was an all-time record for Britain.

Sen. Taft Takes Sharp Issue With Ike's European Report

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8—(P)—Senator Taft of Ohio took sharp issue with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today, saying the General submitted a "hazy" report on European defense and exaggerated the dangers of a lost war on that continent.

Thus the senator who is often dubbed "Mr. Republican" and who is rated a leading possibility for the Republican presidential nomination, called into question the ideas of a man who likewise is frequently mentioned for the G.O.P. nomination.

In a senate speech, Taft accused President Truman of claiming dictatorial powers to send troops overseas to defend Europe against Communism. He also said the administration was concealing just how many troops the United States and other nations are to furnish for the International Defense Army headed by Eisenhower.

The General Exaggerates

Taft said he thinks Eisenhower exaggerates "the danger of an unsuccessful war in Europe." Eisenhower has warned that if Europe were lost to the Soviets, the United States probably would be cut off from vital raw materials in other areas of the world. He said the world's destiny then would be dictated by totalitarianism.

Taft complained that Eisenhower's report to Congress last week left the nation still up in the air as to how big an army the general would have, or how many Americans would be in it.

Urging Congress to lay down a policy, Taft said this country should supply no more than one division to each nine raised by its western European allies.

Taft, chief of his party's policy committee in the senate, asserted arguments that Mr. Truman could send the enlarged armed forces anywhere without definite congressional approval are, "A claim of power which no president has ever had in time of peace."

Truman Claims Full Power

President Truman has consistently claimed full authority to deploy Americans around the world, but he has always stated that he intended to consult congressional approval.

Attlee Scores Close Victory On Meat Issue

LONDON, Feb. 8—Prime Minister Attlee's labor government turned back a second challenge to its existence in two days tonight by a margin of eight votes. The vote was 306 to 298 on the meat shortage issue.

The Conservatives had sought to oust the government on a motion of no confidence over its meat policies, which involved sharper cuts in the tiny British meat ration.

The government's margin in the House of Commons was two less than it got last night in turning back an attack led by Winston Churchill who sought to reverse the government's policy of nationalizing the steel industry.

Prior to the vote Capt. Harry Crookshank, a conservative, had charged that the British meat ration is one-third of what even London's poorhouses served before the war.

He had moved that the House of Commons adopt a conservative motion accusing the government of "mismanagement and lack of foresight" in handling the meat problem.

A labor defeat might have forced the downfall of the government and new elections.

Yanks Draw Noose On Trapped Enemy

Tanks Crush Last Resistance On West Approach To Seoul

TOKYO, Friday, Feb. 9—(P)—Enemy resistance on the road to Seoul crumbled Thursday as two veteran American divisions tightened the noose on Chinese Reds trapped south of the Han river in western Korea.

Tiger faced tanks of the U. S. 25th Division raced within four miles of the city's western outskirts and lobbed shells into the fire-blackened carcass of the old capital.

Punching ahead steadily from the southwest, Puerto Rican infantrymen of the famed U. S. Third Division stormed a high hill four and one-half miles from Red-held Seoul. Third Division howitzers thumped Chinese positions north of the Han.

Chinese troops, caught between the death-dealing guns and bayonets of these two divisional columns, faced almost certain destruction.

Enemy losses, mostly Chinese and mostly in the west, already have exceeded 57,000 by official estimate since the Eighth Army began its limited offensive Jan. 25.

The U. S. Eighth Army said in a terse announcement Thursday: "Destruction of Communist forces in the pocket south of the Han in the western sector, the objective of the current phase of the limited offensive, is proceeding and may sum up as a sizeable victory in terms of enemy losses."

"No further implications should be attached to the present situation."

Drive Has One Objective

That was an Eighth Army reminder from the commander, Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, that the objective of the present drive was to kill enemy troops—not necessarily to capture Seoul or drive north of the Han river in the west.

A British observer put it in this crisp fashion: "Ridgway's interests are homicidal, not geographical."

However, the allies had made geographical gains as well. Advances Thursday along a 75-mile front extending eastward from the Yellow Sea ranged from 2½ miles in the west to eight miles in the east-central sector. They have gained more than a score of miles since the offensive began.

Associated Press Correspondent Jim Becker reported that the 25th Infantry Division faced only "light opposition" in driving towards Seoul from the south-west. Enemy resistance also was melting before the U. S. Third division, on the southeast.

Air Force Strikes Hard

Far East Air Forces and U. N. naval units lambasted the enemy's northeastern coast railroad with one of the heaviest attacks of the war.

Superforts, light bombers and jet fighter-bombers of the Far East command sealed off tunnels and tore up rails all along a 100-mile stretch of the road which the Reds have been using to transport their war equipment and supplies southward into Korea from Manchuria.

Japan-based Superforts knocked out two of the line's bridges, one near Kumusan and the other near Chuurongjang.

Kitts Manhunt Comes To End As FBI Nails Cagy Fugitive

OMAHA, Feb. 8—(P)—Kenneth A. Kitts, a dapper fugitive charged with a string of midwest bank robberies and burglaries, was behind jail bars here again tonight after 17 days of self-appointed freedom.

FBI agents nabbed him as he slept early today in the Tower tourist village here.

He was unarmed, surprised and docile. His normally slick blond hair had been dyed a reddish tint and waved. And he had acquired a mustache since he slipped quietly and mysteriously away from the Linn county jail at Cedar Rapids, Iowa the night of Jan. 22.

Escape A Mystery

How Kitts managed the escape had not been explained. Kitts said only that he found an open door and walked out. The FBI was mum.

Indications were the government would press for a speedy removal to Iowa, where on Monday Kitts is scheduled to come to trial at Mason City on charges of burglarizing the Laurens, Iowa, bank last fall. The 33-year old Omaha man, a nifty-dresser with a liking for expensive jewelry, was awaiting trial when he broke jail. A removal hearing was set for tomorrow.

Kitts also is under indictment for bank burglaries and robberies at Kaylor, Hurley, Selby and Garretson, S. C.—robberies dating back more than two years.

Dalton said the indictment was returned by a federal grand jury at Sioux Falls last December.

Kitts Well-Known

He has been convicted in Nebraska as a burglar and habitual criminal. At Knoxville, Tenn., he is charged with impersonating a federal officer to accomplish a robbery.

Kitts came near being captured at Granite City, Ill., early yesterday. The FBI and local police sprung a trap on the rooming house where he had been staying but Kitts had left.

Since his escape, Kitts had been in Iowa, Nebraska, Illinois, Missouri and Wyoming, Dalton said.

Wilson Names Dr. Flemming As Assistant

Director Creates Policy Committee To Guide Manpower

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8—(P)—Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson today created a top level manpower policy committee in his office, headed by Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, president of Ohio Wesleyan university.

Flemming also became Wilson's assistant in charge of manpower problems and thus became the country's number 1 authority over manpower controls and the allocation of men between civilian industry and the armed forces.

Besides Flemming, the seven-member committee will be made up of:

Assistant Secretary of Defense Anna Rosenberg; Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director; chairman Harry B. Mitchell of the Civil Service Commission; Cyrus S. Ching, chairman of the Wage Stabilization Board; representatives of the Department of Labor and Agriculture, and the deputy administrator of the Defense Production Administration.

Other Group Duties Besides advising Wilson on allocating manpower resources—which means, among other things, the policy on deferring essential workers from military duty—the committee is instructed to:

1. Review federal policies and programs and make recommendations for the better coordination of manpower controls with production and wage-price controls.

2. Prepare for Wilson proposed legislation and orders regulating manpower.

In its latter capacity, the committee would make findings as to the type and timing of needed manpower controls, such as plant-by-plant ceilings on personnel and controls over "job-jumping" or the quitting of defense jobs for better paid civilian work.

Tobin Suffers Defeat The announcement represents a defeat for Secretary of Labor Tobin, who set up a defense manpower office in his department some months ago and has resisted Wilson's plans to centralize authority in the Office of Defense Mobilization.

Tobin recently is understood to have proposed a committee to be headed by himself, and which would refer problems to Wilson only if the committee could not agree.

Flemming was a member of the Civil Service Commission for 10 years ending in August, 1948. He also was a member of the War Manpower Commission in World War II. He has been president of the Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware, Ohio, since 1948.

The passenger train was northbound from Texas to St. Louis. A spokesman for the railroad said in St. Louis that a metal tire slipped from one of the locomotives drive wheels and caused the derailment.

One person who was in a dining car at the time of the derailment reported a back injury, the railroad said.

Tigers Drop Finale Of Clinton Tourney To Maryville, 41-40

The Smith-Cotton Tigers lost a heart-breaking contest to the Maryville Spoofhounds in the finals of the 26th Annual Clinton Invitational Tournament Saturday night before an overflow crowd by a 41-40 score.

The Tigers were never behind until the final four minutes of the last frame, when the Northeast Missouri fives poured through a bucket to send them ahead to stay. The Tigers lost their ace rebounder and high-point man, Bob Shawver after a minute of play in the third quarter. The loss of big Bob hurt the Tiger chances of winning severely. Before fouling out he took the majority of the rebounds and dumped in eight points.

The Bengals inability to hit in the second half actually cost them the victory as they connected for only one bucket from the field and eight charity tosses.

Bill Morgan tallied 15 points to lead the Sedalia attack, but his efforts were not enough to offset the keyed-up Spoofhounds scoring pace.

After Shawver left the game the locals gathered few rebounds and their set plays off post were stopped. It is evident that the Bengals have not found another Shawver to take the post when he leaves a contest. Fouling out besides Shawver were Jonsson and Murphy, who left the game late in the final frame.

The Tigers grabbed a 12-8 first period lead and added two points to it by half time by a 30-25 score. In the second half the game was strictly a defensive battle with the locals dunking in 10 points while Maryville was able to muster 16.

Coach Jim Ball's Tigers won their second game of the Clinton tournament and a position in the finals, as they upset the tourney favorites and host Clinton Cardinals, in a hair-raising 40-37 thriller Saturday afternoon before a large partisan Clinton crowd.

Bobby Shawver and Bill "Bones" Morgan led the winning local attack by dumping in 13 and 11 points respectively. Shawver carried the team in the first half as he dunked in nine points. Morgan was the mainstay in the final half as he also poured through nine tallies.

Bath Paces Clinton

Charlie Bath pumped in 22 markers to pace the top-sided Cardinal charge. Bath threw 15 of his points in the first half and coach Jim Ball decided to try a new man at guarding Bath. He gave the assignment to Bill "Gabby" McCrary. "Gabby" promptly threw the clamps on the all-state forward holding him to three field goals and a free toss in the last two periods.

Shawver also played a whale of a game on defense as he held Clinton's ace center George Cunningham scoreless in the first three stanzas and stopped Bill Stone's scoring spree in the final frame.

Tigers Start Fast

The Tigers were off to a fast start and held an 11-7 first period lead. Bath and company closed on the Bengals in the second stanza to gain a 21-20 intermission advantage.

Smith-Cotton regained the lead in the early minutes of the third period and sailed on to victory. With two minutes remaining the Tigers held the biggest lead of the game, five points.

Beat Adrain in First Game

The Tigers won their first game of the tournament Friday as they squeaked past the towering Adrain Tigers by a 49-47 margin. Smith-Cotton put on a last quarter surge to zoom past the losers with four minutes remaining in the game.

The officiating in this game was questioned by many fans, both from Clinton and other towns, who saw the thrilling see-saw battle. The Bengals had 26 fouls called against them and lost three starters (McCrary, Morgan, and Johnson) via the foul route. The referees tooted their whistle as the Adrain fives only eight times and no one man had over three personal.

Bob Shawver led the Tigers with 20 points and his rebounding was tops but, the all-around play of Bill "Gabby" McCrary stole the show as the peppery Bengal guard threw in seven field goals for 14 points, was credited with giving basket assists to several players, stole the ball five times, and gave Shawver a lot of help on the backboards.

Paul Moudy led the losers offensively as he tallied 24 markers. Score by quarters: First—Tigers 17—Adrain 22. Second—Tigers 29—Adrain 27. Third—Tigers 39—Adrain 41. Fourth—Tigers 49—Adrain 47.

Mothers March on Polio Big Success

"The Mothers March on Polio last Wednesday night was the greatest single effort in any March of Dimes in the history of the local chapter," Scott Webber, Pettis County Campaign Director announced today.

The latest count on the Mothers March shows a total of nearly $1600 with some few workers not yet reporting.

This is the first year such an undertaking has been tried on a national scale. The idea was tried in only one city in 1950, in Phoenix, Arizona, and met with such huge success that the March of Time filmed the entire proceeding and made the film available to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Mr. Webber secured the film which was shown at the January meeting of the Sedalia PTA Council, and the idea met with such enthusiastic support that the PTA immediately voted to sponsor the drive in Sedalia.

"In reality, the Mothers March on Polio is a big show, with every mother a star," Webber commented. It was a tremendous organizational effort, requiring hours of hard work to make certain that the drive worked smoothly.

As a result, from 7 to 8 o'clock on Wednesday night, a house to house canvass was made at those homes showing a porchlight as an invitation to the block workers to receive donations to the March of Dimes.

Under the general chairmanship of Mrs. Gib Owen, President of the PTA Council, each PTA president acted as Area Captain for a designated portion of the city. Acting under their guidance, hundreds of Sedalia women volunteered as block workers to cover the entire city in one hour.

Through the cooperation of the Mayor's office, and the police and fire departments, transportation was made available to escort the PTA presidents with their collections to City Hall, where the money was locked up for the night.

With the temperature down to zero and a heavy snow falling, the hour for the drive arrived, all over Sedalia the porch lights began to blossom. Too much credit cannot be given to the women and mothers of Sedalia who ventured forth on such a night, plodding over icy snow-covered streets so that some child, somewhere may walk again.

"The Pettis County Chapter for Infantile Paralysis wishes it were possible to give its personal thanks to every individual worker who took part in the Mothers March on Polio," Mr. Webber said. "The PTA organization can indeed take great pride in a great job well done."

Acting as Area Captains in the drive were the following PTA presidents: Mrs. W. J. Knight, Horace Mann school; Mrs. Lawrence Dailey, Broadway school; Mrs. L. E. Sheridan, Whittier school; Mrs. Charles Poynter, Jefferson school; Mrs. Howard Gwinn, Washington school; and Mrs. C. L. Kelley, Mark Twain school.

Owing to the bad weather on the night of the drive, unfortunately there were some sections of the city which could not be covered adequately. All families whose porchlight invitations were missed are urged to send their donations to "Mothers March on Polio, Postmaster, Sedalia," or they may leave their donations in person with Miss Alice Scott at the Probate Judge's office in the Court House.

Paris Streets Jammed at The Time of Visit By Eisenhower

By Rev. David M. Bryan
First Christian Church
(Special To Democrat-Capital)

Paris, France: I arrived in France from Tel Aviv, Israel, in time to witness the way in which our own General Eisenhower was received here. Of course, most of the French people received him in the same way we all expected, and hoped they would. However, I had the experience of seeing the Communist demonstration against him.

For several days all of Paris had been talking about the great Communist demonstration that had been called for the evening before Eisenhower's departure from Europe. During these last days it seems that every building in Paris was decorated by signs reading "Eisenhower go home!" also accusing America of being the No. 1 warmonger. I counted four such signs plastered on my own hotel. I had seen similar signs all over Italy a few weeks ago.

The Communists had been threatening a demonstration that would make all others look like a Sunday School party. On the evening on which it was scheduled I went over to Eisenhower's headquarters at Hotel Astoria near the Arc de Triomphe. I wanted to see the excitement.

I found the streets jammed with many thousands of people and literally hundreds of police. The Paris paper reported the government had called out 10,000 police, and I noted that many were armed with rifles.

Cracked On Skull

The Communists did not turn out in the numbers that had been expected and there was no real violence aside from a few people including one cop getting cracked on the skull. The demonstration was confined largely to posters and insulting shouts. I saw dozens arrested and hauled away—as many women as men. The former appeared more vociferous than the latter.

While I was standing to one side watching the demonstration against the general and my own country, a woman demonstrator came up to me and said "It's a shame, the way you Americans want to come over here and fight us." I was dumb-founded both by the thought and by the ease with which she spotted me for an American. I replied that America did not want to fight anyone.

I saw written in her face a deep unreasonable hatred for all I represented to her. As a sign of her disgust she spit on the ground at my feet (obviously preferring my face) and then said to H—"I suddenly remembered vehemently, "all Americans go to H—" I suddenly remembered that I had business elsewhere.

More Like Home

the above, coming to France from the Middle East is almost like coming home. Here I find people dressing as I do and eating foods similar to those to which I have been accustomed. There are no donkeys and camels in the streets and no people carrying jugs and baskets on their heads. In an eleven hour flight I have left the ancient world and re-entered the modern. The experience makes one appreciate more thoroughly the dangers and values of both.

This afternoon I visited Napoleon's elaborate tomb in company with a Kansas Mennonite, a religious sect which refuses participation in any war. The guard requested him to remove his hat and he left rather than to obey. I don't know what was in the fellow's mind. I never saw him again. But it occurs to me that in one sense he represents the best spirit of America—the American who refuses to take his hat off to tyranny and bloody conquest.

When I leave here I shall fly to Amsterdam in Northern Holland.

Car Crashes Into Supply Building

Several hundred dollars in damage resulted to the plate glass windows in the Brown Automotive Supply building, Third street and Kentucky avenue about 4:00 o'clock Friday afternoon when a 1947 Packard sedan driven by R. S. Haggard crashed into the building. The Packard was in collision with a 1936 Chevrolet sedan driven by Donald Stohr, 904 South Prospect avenue.

Mr. Haggard was driving south on Kentucky avenue and Stohr was headed east on Third street when the two cars collided. The Packard skidded on the ice after the impact and jumped the curb, smashed down a parking meter, and struck the southwest corner of the entrance. Two glasses 50 inches by 120 inches were shattered and three smaller glasses on the inside vestibule knocked out and two windows 72 inches by 120 were cracked to such an extent they will have to be replaced.

Damage to the two automobiles was only slight. None of the occupants of the two cars was injured.

Warsaw Wins PBC Tourney

Jerry Lumpe Paces Team to Victory Over LaMonte

Behind the brilliant work of Jerry Lumpe on the backboards and the hot shooting of Apperson, the Warsaw Lions downed the LaMonte Vikings 37-32 in the championship game of the Pettis-Benton County Conference tournament held at Sacred Heart gymnasium Friday and Saturday.

Getting off to a slow start the boys from Benton County failed to head the Vikings until the second half when they managed to overcome a two-point half-time deficit and from then on were never headed. It was Lumpe's control of the boards in the third quarter that proved to be the deciding factor, as Warsaw outscored LaMonte in this period 14 to 7. Warsaw's attempted freeze with six minutes remaining in the ball game led to a rough finish and little scoring. Each team picked up six points in the final stanza. Apperson led Warsaw with 14 points while Butler was high for LaMonte with nine.

Trophies were awarded after the final game with Cole Camp boys receiving the third place basketball award and the Cole Camp girls the championship volleyball trophy.

New Head For LaMonte Bank

E. R. Keller has sold his controlling interest in the LaMonte Community Bank to C. H. Goppert of Kansas City, Mo.

Mr. Keller has lived in LaMonte since 1896 and was in the grocery business there until he organized the LaMonte Community bank in 1946 after the community had been without a bank for 15 years. The bank's deposits grew to more than $500,000.00 under his leadership. Mr. Keller has not announced his future plans.

Mr. Goppert, the new owner, who also owns control of banks at Odessa, Rockport and Norborne, Missouri, spent the first 17 years of his life on farms in north central Kansas. He started in the banking business as clerk (and janitor) in that area just before he became 17. After five years in county banks up to the position of assistant cashier, he was with the Crop Production Loan Office of the U. S. Department of Agriculture in St. Louis in 1932-33. From 1933 to 1941 he was first junior then senior examiner for the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation at Lincoln, Nebraska, and Kansas City, Mo.

In 1941 he purchased control of the Peoples State bank of Dodson, Mo., (just outside Kansas City) and was its president until 1948, during which time its deposits grew from $85,000 to $2,000,000. After selling his interest in that bank, he acquired control of banks at Odessa, Rockport, and Norborne, Mo., in 1948 and 1949.

Floyd Ripley, who has been cashier of the LaMonte bank since it was organized in 1946, will continue in that position and will be in charge of the bank. He has been a resident of LaMonte for the past 30 years except for a 6-year period (1925-1932).

'Spring' Theme Of Music Club Program

Although the thermometer was ranging below zero, spring came in music to the members of the Helen G. Steele Music club, when a program entitled "A Treat in Light Music" was presented on Wednesday afternoon. The chairmen of the day, Mrs. William Hert and Mrs. Dick Monsees were presented by the life-president, Mrs. E. F. Yancey, who presided.

Colorful platform decorations announced the season, with large sprays of dogwood blossoming above a section of split-rail fence, and a border of jaunty tulips. A cardinal sang from a fence-rail and an alert squirrel seemed poised to catch every note of the music. An interesting narrative, written by Mrs. Frank S. Leach, was read by Mrs. C. F. Scotten as the program was presented. Two unusual features of the afternoon were a six-hand piano number, and a string quartet. The sextet, directed by Mrs. Percy Metcalf, wore dresses of yellows and greens and spring prints to further carry out the illusion of springtime.

The following program was presented:

"Spring Song," piano solo, Mendelssohn—Mrs. Charles L. Patterson.

Examination For Missouri Auto Drivers

Bill Providing it Gets Approval of House Committee

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 8.—(AP)—A bill to require examination of Missouri automobile drivers was approved by a House committee today.

It is designed to erase a stigma President Truman once said embarrassed him. He said in his home state of Missouri a crazy man could walk out of a mental hospital and buy a license to drive for a quarter.

The substitute bill approved by the committee today would make it a lot tougher to get and keep a license. Major provisions include:

New applicants for a driver's license would have to prove to state patrol examiners they had the physical and mental ability to handle a car.

Holders of present licenses would have to be examined if they let their licenses lapse or if they violated traffic laws and were temporarily suspended from the right to drive.

City driver's licenses would be abolished, except cities could still license taxicab drivers.

A person over 18 could get a chauffeur's license for $3 a year after proving in the examination he was capable. But to drive a school bus a chauffeur would have to be at least 21.

To drive a passenger car the applicant would have to be at least 16 years old, except students could get an instruction permit at 15.

Provides Suspension

The director of the revenue department could suspend chauffeur licenses up to one year. Magistrate or circuit judges could suspend or revoke any license. But municipal court judges or officials could only suspend licenses.

Revocations could be ordered for:

Conviction of manslaughter growing out of a traffic accident.

Conviction of driving drunk or drugged.

Conviction of leaving the scene of an accident.

Proof the applicant lied or made a false affidavit in getting his license.

Conviction of three charges of careless or reckless driving within a 12-month period.

Suspension could be ordered against a chauffeur by the director for:

Proof he was liable in a death, personal injury or serious property damage because of "wanton and reckless" operation of a motor vehicle.

Habitual reckless and careless operation of a vehicle.

Habitual violation of traffic laws.

If a driver had an accident and a judgment was found against him his license could be suspended unless he paid off the judgment.

A similar measure died last session because the two Houses couldn't agree.

The squabble of whether municipal authorities should have power to suspend or revoke licenses was a major point of contention last time. Today's bill is the committee's idea of a compromise or three bills it considered earlier.

Among new House bills today was one to permit state employees to come under the Federal Old Age Benefit insurance. A similar measure is pending in the Senate.

Another new measure, by Rep. Frank Maxxuca (D) of Jackson County, would force installation of windshields, lights, windshield wipers and tops on railroad work cars—those little vehicles that workers buzz up and down the rails on.

Interpreting The News

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The number and similarity of news leaks about what the Atomic Energy Commission has been doing in Nevada suggest a deliberate intent to use the tests for whatever they are worth in the war of nerves with Russia.

There is, to my mind, considerable question whether the U. S. atom bomb is as much of a deterrent to Russian militarism as it has been painted. It seems just as likely that Russia has had neither the ability nor the intent to make war; that she prefers the type of conflict that has been going on. Certainly she has had great success with it, without so far running the risk of having all of her gains cancelled by ultimate military defeat.

Russia's military preparedness, and especially her own atomic program, may be approaching the point where she would be inclined to take greater chances of war in prosecuting her expansion program. Her attitude has been growing harder and harder during the past year. The Soviet press is currently engaged in a vitriolic anti-American campaign to prepare the Russian people for war.

It would seem that the need for deterrents increases, and that the more power displayed now the better. During the period required for establishment of a real balance of power, that isn't necessarily true.

Word that the five latest atomic explosions have importantly increased American knowledge of how to make and fire atomic artillery and guided missiles certainly contribute to the deterrent.

So does the intimation that the tests have included work on the needed uranium or plutonium "trigger" which will be required by the hydrogen bomb. This is another link in the chain of evidence that the hydrogen bomb can be made.

While these weapons might not be ready in the next few months, Stalin needs only to recall the impetus given the A-bomb by Hitler and Togo to know that they will play a part before any new war is over.

The "old" A-bomb has been refined of the point where it can now be carried not merely by strategic bombers, but by attack bombers. Guided missiles and artillery shells with atomic warheads would vastly increase the application of nuclear fission to the destruction of enemy armies.

Unless Russia develops them for herself, these new weapons could be the Western answer to the vast numbers of men at the command of the Communist sphere. The allies have been showing in Korea what ordinarily modern firepower can do to cut down manpower superiority.

In one way, then, the publicity given the Nevada tests might have a very salutary effect on the Kremlin. If the thought of A-bombs on Moscow, Leningrad, Kiev and other centers already has Stalin worried, how much more should he worry about a new set of trumps for his ace—manpower?

There a possibility, though, that the deterrent can outgrow its own purposes, becoming such a threat that Stalin would risk war now in the hope of getting it over before things get worse. That's something the allies are going to have to consider regarding every show of strength for the next year or two.

Halt Blocking Move by GOP Legislators

Democrats Still Press For Larger Building Fund

By George Sitterly

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Minority Republicans counted noses today and figured they had the power to renew their battle against enlarging the new state office building.

But the Democrats pulled some majority members from the corridors and offices to put down the rebellion on a close 61 to 55 vote.

A lot of members had drifted away on this last day of the legislative work week. Even Speaker Roy Hamlin (D) of Marion county was absent from the chamber when the ruckus started. But Speaker Pro Tem John L. Sando (D) of Dunklin county ruled against the parliamentary procedure of the Republicans.

The Democrats found barely enough votes to back him up.

Yesterday the political wrangling got things into such a swivel a key $4,000,000 emergency appropriation bill was killed.

Majority Democrats immediately laid plans to bring the measure up for reconsideration early next week and ram it through, whether the Republicans like it or not.

Minority ire was aroused over a $1,775,000 item to put a five-story cap on the new state office building now under construction as a $3,000,000, eight-story affair. The Republicans found out the contract calls for the five stories for a little more than $800,000.

Why then, they asked, was the appropriation nearly $1,000,000 more than that? Were some she-nanigans going on, with the people's money likely to wind up in the wrong pockets?

One Republican, Rep. Richard M. Webster of Jasper county, charged that if there was a scheme he blamed it on Gov. Forest Smith, Lt. Gov. James T. Blair, Jr., and attorney general J. E. Taylor. All Democrats, they are members of the board of public buildings. The board signed the contract with the McDonald Construction company of St. Louis.

Denial by Governor

Told of Webster's charges the governor denied there'd been any skulduggery.

He itemized the need for the added money, listing such things as venetian blinds, additional elevators, a penthouse auditorium, floor tiling and the like. One item was $7,500 for a decorative sculptured limestone base.

If Webster really wanted to find out about the appropriation, the governor asked, why didn't he come down and look at the list?

The governor also wants an additional $2,200,000 — in another pending appropriation bill — to build a wing on the new building.

Republicans have indicated they will attack that one tooth and toenail. They drove it to the shelf in one noisy session last week.

Truman, Senator Exchange Words Over RFC Fuss

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—(AP)—President Truman and an investigating senator swapped such adjectives as asinine and untrue today in a bitter row over the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, multi-billion dollar government lending outfit.

The President assailed as asinine a Senate subcommittee report alleging that a White House aide influenced the lending operations of the big agency.

The investigating subcommittee was headed by Senator Fulbright (D-Ark.). Mr. Truman, in the course of his denunciation of its report at his news conference, said he hasn't been able to find out what it was driving at and hopes to find out from Fulbright.

He added, however, that Fulbright left town as soon as he heard the President wanted to see him. Replied Fulbright in a statement:

"I do not wish to seem disrespectful to the President but this statement of the President's is not true."

Prison and Fine To Remington

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Convicted perjurer William W. Remington today was sentenced to a maximum term of five years in prison and fined $2,000.

The 33-year-old former government economist was convicted by a federal court jury last night which decided he lied when he swore he never had been a Communist. The jury deliberated less than five hours.

The 33-year-old former government economist last night heard a jury of seven women and five men pronounce him guilty of lying to a federal grand jury last summer when he denied ever being a member of the Communist party.

Remington frowned heavily when he heard the verdict—but said nothing.

The jury returned its verdict after deliberating about five hours. Its decision chimaxed a 32-day trial during which the blond, handsome defendant was accused of transmitting government secrets to Elizabeth Bentley, self-described former Communist courier.

The brunette, Mrs. Remington testified against her husband during the trial. She is an admitted ex-Communist.

Gas Line Break Is Repaired

Pressure Fell But Few Homes Wre Without Gas

Sedalia gas users were inconvenienced some Thursday by a break in the Cities Service gas line six miles west of Sedalia and two miles south of Dresden, but it wasn't for long. However, few, if any, residences were completely without gas to heat their homes, according to William R. Rich, manager of the local Missouri Public Service Co., who also stated gas was back to normal by noon.

The break resulted about 9:30 to 9:45 o'clock Wednesday night and was discovered about 10:00 o'clock when gas pressure fell from 250 to 150 pounds. As soon as the drop in pressure was noticed, emergency calls were made to various employees of the company to report for duty.

Immediately the local gas service men started working in East Sedalia which has the lowest pressure area, while Mike Giokaris, superintendent of the gas department for the company in Sedalia, began his search for the break. As soon as it was discovered men were stationed at various valve points.

Control Gas Flow

Clinton Black, district engineer went to a location west of the break and controlled a valve there, Assistant District Engineer Jack Faber was stationed at the valve at the city limits just north of Sedalia and other men stationed at various gas pressure points. Their duties were to try and control the flow of gas and keep it moved into Sedalia without too much inconvenience.

Gas replenishment from the local company and from the Cities Service went to the scene of the break and began working to make the necessary repairs. A break five-eighths of an inch around the 12-inch pipe had occurred.

Collar Around Pipe

Workmen began immediately to uncover the pipe by digging a large hole around the area. As soon as possible other workmen descended into it to check the break. Working at intervals of between two and three minutes, the men succeeded in placing a collar around the pipe. Several times a gasket would break and their work began all over again and this continued until the collar was finally fastened to hold the gas flow. The pressure was gradually increased and workmen remained to see that no further damage would result. About noon the normal gas pressure was restored.

Appreciates Cooperation

"Excellent cooperation between the gas users and the company was experienced. No sooner had we broadcast and made many, many telephone calls to our customers requesting them to cut their heating to 60-degrees than this was done. Though the cooperation of everyone it was possible to keep gas flowing into Sedalia without a complete shutdown," Mr. Rich said.

Carl Mason, vice-president of the Missouri Public Service Co., from Warrensburg using a mobile telephone was in constant touch with Cities Service officials in Kansas City, and Wichita, Kansas, discussing the pressures, the break and progress in repair. The men stationed at various valve points were in touch with each other through the mobile radio cars while Mr. Giokaris continued making his rounds of inspections and was in constant touch with all of them through the automobile radio network.

Heard for Two Miles

Hissing of the escaping gas could be heard for more than two miles in the area of the break and brought numerous telephone calls to the Public Service Co.

Mr. Rich also requested any person who might be having any gas troubles due to the break are requested to call the company immediately. It is possible, he explained that many pilot lights on gas furnaces, hot-water heaters and stokers may have gone out and if their burning has not been restored he requests reports on them.

"It was evident that the majority of Sedalia's population had heard our requests for cooperation. This is acknowledged due to the fact the heaviest time of gas using is between 7 and 7:30 o'clock, a steady pressure was maintained, although it was much lower than usual," Mr. Rich said.
